Hartsfield To Be Candidate for Re-election

LATE NEWS

Noble Way To Earn Living

LONDON—(UP)—The Marquess of Bath counted up a pile of shillings yesterday to /225 ($900)—the Sunday box-office take from showing visitors around his ancestral home at half-a-crown a look.

The Marquess and his daughter, Lady Carolina Thynse actively aided 15 guides in showing visitors over the ground. As he finished adding up the week-end receipts, he turned to a guest and said:

"I wish my sons were home from Eton to help."

Landlubber Sea Lion Drowns

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The first sea lion to be born at the Griffith Park Zoo is dead because he was a landlubber.

Five days ago the baby was born to Esther. Each day she lowered it into the pool so it could get the feel of the water. Yesterday she took her baby out on his first real lesson.

It hadn't mastered the preparatory work. It sank in three feet of water. Attendants who rescued it tried artificial respiration for half an hour without result.

Nobleman's Son Faces Trial

CAMBRIDGE, England—(UP)—The Cambridge undergraduate son of a British lord was charged with manslaughter yesterday after the car he allegedly drove knocked down three women who died a few hours later.

The Hon. Gerald Raby Vane, son of Lord Bernard of Raby castle, County Durham, was released on bail.

Elizabeth Taylor Tells Wedding Plans

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(UP)—Elizabeth Taylor, 17-year-old film star, and William D. Pawley, Jr., 28, handsome son of the wealthy ex-Ambassador to Brazil, will be married in California early next year and make their home in Florida, they announced yesterday.

At a "press conference" on the lawn and in the pool of the Pawley estate, Miss Taylor flashed a huge diamond engagement ring and denied she ever was engaged to Lt. Glenn Davis, who gave her a small gold football.

Miss Taylor had little to say about the engagement, answering questions with a nod or a shake of her head. Pawley, a six-footer with eyes almost as blue as Miss Taylor's, was equally untalkative but Mrs. Francis L. Taylor, who is her daughter's constant companion, said the wedding would take place in Beverly Hills immediately after Elizabeth's 18th birthday, Feb. 27.

Bandit Chieftain Kimes Bobs Up in Cowland Jail

BURNS, Ore.—(AP)—George Kimes, the last of the Southwest's bandit chieftain, turned up in a cow-country county jail here yesterday.

Even with Kimes behind bars, fear of his vengeance lingered on. Sheriff Eldon Sitz hid the identity of the man who tipped the police to Kimes' whereabouts.

The notorious killer and bank robber, however, acted only as a mild-mannered workman of 45. He surrendered pleasantly, readily admitted his identity and agreed to waive extradition.

He showed none of the resentment that earlier marked his career and once led to a shooting scrape in which an enemy was killed while Kimes was supposed to be in prison.

Kimes, who had completed one term in a murder case and was serving out 50 years for bank robbery, walked away from the Oklahoma State Prison 11 months ago when sent to feed dogs at the prison kennels.

Since, he had moved from one job to another, evading the search that spread over the West for him.

Not Available For Air Job, Mayor Says

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
Constitution Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mayor Hartsfield, of Atlanta, will be a candidate for re-election in the September City Democratic Primary.

This was indicated yesterday when friends of the Mayor said they had learned Hartsfield had told Department of Commerce officials here last week that his plans in Atlanta would not permit him to take a Federal Government position as Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aviation in the event it should be offered him.

Rep. James C. Davis, of the Fifth District, had been active in championing Hartsfield for the Federal post. Both Georgia Senators were reported to have indorsed the Atlantan for the top Federal aviation post.

Hartsfield, long an aviation enthusiast and a great friend of commercial aviation, conferred with Department of Commerce officials when he was in Washington last week for a municipalities meeting.

Hartsfield was the leading contender for the Commerce job. Indications are it may not be filled at this time.

Friends of the Mayor here interpreted last week's events as meaning Hartsfield has decided to offer for re-election for the job he has held, except for a short period, since 1937.

Delve Today Into Plaints Of Doctors

By CELESTINE SIBLEY AND ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Staff Writers

MILLEDGEVILLE—A special welfare committee of the Senate today will launch a comprehensive investigation of condition at the State Hospital.

State Sen. Walter Williams, of Baldwin County, said the committee would meet at 2 p. m., today to begin an investigation which may take several days and include testimony from hundreds of hospital employees.

"If conditions are such where 13 doctors can't work there, there must be a lot of other things that need attention there," Williams said. "We're going to find out what the facts are, and bring them to the attention of the Governor and the Welfare Committee. It is our duty to let the facts be known, and when they are known we can expect action from either the Governor or the General Assembly.

The Senator said the five members of the committee, headed by Williams, would go into the investigation with no preconceived ideas of who is right in the controversy between the doctors, State Welfare Director J. M. Forrester and Hospital Administrator T. A. Dechman, but would attempt to find "what the true situation is and let the people know."

Members of the Senate Committee who are expected to meet here today are: Sens. Henry P. Eve, of Augusta; Henry W. Davis, of Jefferson; J. Kimball Zellner, of Forsyth; C. M. Higginbotham, of Royston, and Dr. A. T. Coleman, of Dublin.

Meanwhile, the resigning doctors announced, after a special conference, that 12 of their number are unwilling to accept the proposed salary increase offered by Forrester, and are "sticking together as we planned from the first."

Following a night meeting at the home of Dr. R. B. Crichton, the doctors issued a statement in which they turned down Forrester's proposal and further pledged to talk to members of the administrative staff only as a group. Dr. T. G. Peacock said, "We know they have tried special inducements of increased salary and increased maintenance to get individual members of our group to return. None of us will entertain any offers or indulge in any conversation except as a body."

The thirteenth member of the group, Dr. T. H. Chesnutt, regretfully announced that he was accepting Forrester's offer and returning to work immediately because he had just learned that his wife must undergo a serious operation. He said the resigning group had released him from his pledge to stay with the group after they had learned of his wife's illness.

Eleven of the 13 doctors were asked by Forrester to come back at a raise in salary and under a sweeping change in administrative policies which would include restoring the medical director to equal authority with Thomas A. Dechman, who would be retained as Administration Service Director.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, Gov. Talmadge late yesterday laid part of the blame for the Milledgeville State Hospital crisis on grafters he charges have been costing the State $500,000 a year. The Governor strongly backed State Wel-

East Point Needs $500,000 in Bonds For Growing Pains, Council Says

By GORDON SAWYER

East Point has growing pains. The City Council says there is need of $500,000 to expand and replace present facilities to meet the city's needs. It will put the proposed $500,000 bond issue before East Point citizens at the September Council election.

At a long session Monday night, the Council also directed the city's police force to crack down on traffic violators.

The city's population has doubled in the past 10 years, Mayor E. J. Bass revealed, and more money is needed to give East Point citizens proper services.

According to Mayor Bass, the money would be used for:

1. A complete new city electrical system to replace the present heavily overloaded network.

2. A new police station and a new building for the main fire station.

3. New and improved parks, including a new swimming pool, baseball diamond and tennis court.

4. A new incinerator, three times the size of the one presently used.

5. An increased water supply system, including an auxiliary main under the Chattahoochee River to be used in case the old main is damaged during high water.

6. Street improvements.

Councilmen voted to take action on the traffic violators, they said, to keep at a minimum "personal and property injuries from traffic violations." Two children were recently struck by automobiles in East Point, according to Police Chief W. H. Tyler, and numerous complaints have been received by the Council.

"East Point hasn't had a traffic fatality since July, 1947," according to East Point Mayor E. J. Bass. "That's a good record. We're not going to sit idly by and lose it. We're going to put teeth in the speeding laws in this town."

Thundershowers Slated Today

Atlanta is in for thundershowers this afternoon, the weatherman forecasts, and the rain should bring a welcome respite from sweltering heat.

The official forecast says partly cloudy and continued hot, with widely scattered thundershowers."

Today's temperatures are expected to range between 90 and 67 degrees. Yesterday's high was 92; the low, 67.

TIMES THAT TRY MEN'S SOLES

Atlanta thieves, says Jack Phillips, of Fayettesville, will stoop to anything.

Phillips said he took a nap yesterday in the Terminal Station waiting room. He told police he discovered upon awakening that someone had snatched $7 from his wallet and a new pair of tan shoes off his feet. He said the thief left a pair of wornout shoes near his feet.

Cook Offers 23-Point Plan For Economy

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook laid 23 recommendations before the State Tax Revision Subcommittee yesterday and told the group he believed his recommendations, if carried out, would result in raising $12,000,000 additional revenue without an increase in taxes.

Needled by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher, Jr., who asked Cook to be more specific and itemize and total up the amount that could be saved by each of the 23 proposals, the Attorney General said that would be impossible to do.

Newest of the ideas outlined by Cook was a "package procedure" to issue passenger car driver's license and tags free of taxes under combination application that would certify that the ad valorem tax had been paid on the automobile.

Cook said the estimated $2,000,000 loss in revenue from drivers' licenses and tags would be vastly offset by the increase in ad valorem tax collections on automobiles. He pointed ou that more than 70 percent of automobile owners now evade taxes on their cars.

The Attorney General aslo added his recommendation to that made by others that the Revenue Department be placed under the merit system for efficiency.

Cook outlined drastic changes in property taxes which he said are an admitted failure now.

Rep. Frank Twitty, of Mitchell County, floor leader in the State House, told Cook he knew of one case in which a dairy valued at more than $50,000 paid no property taxes. The assessment is less than the $2,000 homestead exemption and thus the entire property is free of ad valorem taxes, Twitty said.

Gov. Talmadge appeared briefly before the Subcommittee and thanked the members for their diligent work.

Worrill Gets Court Post

Gov. Talmadge disclosed last night that he will appoint Judge Charles Worrill, of Cuthbert, today to succeed the late Judge Dave Parker, of Waycross, on the State Court of Appeals. Judge Parker died Saturday at Savannah, and his funeral was held at Waycross yesterday. Judge Worrill, who swore Talmadge in as Governor, is Judge of the Pataula Superior Court Circuit.

NOMINEE ONE-TIME PRIVATE

Truman Names Under Sec. Gray To Be Secretary of the Army

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman yesterday nominated a one-time buck private to be Secretary of the Army.

He is Under Secretary Gordon Gray, North Carolina lawyer and publisher and Acting Secretary since the resignation of Kenneth C. Royall April 27.

Gray, born in Baltimore in 1909, is not a career military man. But he served three years in the Army, enlisting as a private in 1942 and rising to a captain of infantry with the Twelfth Army Group in Europe.

Mr. Truman sent his nomination to the Senate late in the day after the White House indicated that Secretary of Defense Johnson had failed in efforts to persuade Curtis E. Calder, New York utilities executive, to take the job.

Gray later stopped in at the White House to see the President, but had nothing to say when he came out.

Gray first came to Washington in September, 1947, as Assistant Secretary of war, and was elevated to the post of Under Secretary last May 25.

Although a native of Baltimore, Gray's life has been spent mostly in North Carolina where he was graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He served two terms in the State Legislature, and was elected to a third term from which he resigned to come to Washington as Assistant Secretary in 1947.

For the past 12 years Gray has been president of the Piedmont Publishing Company of Winston-Salem, which publishes the Winston-Salem Journal and the Twin City Sentinel and operates two radio stations.

GORDON GRAY
Truman Nominee

Gray once said he considered his training as a private one of the most beneficial experiences of his life. A year after his enlistment, he was graduated from officer candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga., as a second liepteneant.

He was ordered to Europe and attached to the Tactical Headquarters of the 12th Army Group comprising the first, Third and Ninth Armies. He left active duty in 1945.

Before becoming a publisher, Gray practiced law in New York City and Winston-Salem.

Gray's nomination was almost certain of Senate approval. His confirmation as Secretary of the Navy will fill the second of two posts in the defense establishment made vacant within the past month or two.

Just recently Mr. Truman named Francis Patrick Matthews, Omaha lawyer, as Secretary of the Army will fill the second of two Sullivan resigned about a month ago after angrily indicting Johnson's order halting construction of the Navy's super aircraft-carrier.

Secretary of Air Symington is the only hold-over from the regime of the late Secretary James Forrestal. He became Assistant Secretary of War for Air in 1946, and the first Air Secretary under the military unification set-up in 1947.

EAST POINT'S MRS. STEPHENS RETIRES

Children Harder To Control Now, Says Woman 35 Years a Teacher

By SHIRLEY ZIEGLER

Children are harder to control now than they were 35 years ago.

That's the opinion of Mrs. J. H. Stephens, 64-year-old assistant principal of the Harris Street School in East Point, who retired yesterday after 35 years of teaching.

"It's the difference in the way they're controlled at home," the gray-haired, motherly woman said "In my age, the mother and father were law. Now the children don't seem to respect authority so much as then."

A self-confessed teacher of the old school who believes soundly in the old axiom, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," she admitted she's spanked quite a few of her charges, "mostly for impudence and misconduct, and occasionally for laziness."

"It helped, too," she said firamly.

An impulent youngster, however, is the source of Mrs. Stephens' favorite story about her career. She caught a ten-year-old boy misbehaving once in the back of the room and promptly moved him up beside her desk. Then she looked over at him and said scornfully, "Now aren't you a pretty one!"

"I'm as pretty as you are," the little delinquent piped up.

Tears came to Mrs. Stephens eyes yesterday as the faculty and PTA presented her with a silver bud vase and the Royal Doulton figurines, "Sweeting" and "Honey" The gifts were duly presented with eulogies of Mrs. Stephens.

"I don't recognize myself, all the nice things you say," she protested demurely, and then added with her beloved mischivous humor, "That's not what you used to say when I taught your children!"

Mrs. Stephens intends to rest awhile, enjoy her four grandchildren, and then maybe get "an easier job."

"Teaching is a wonderful profession, and if I had my life to do over, I'd do it again; but now I feel like I've taught long enough, she said.

West Rejects Russia's Berlin Plan Giving Moscow 'Stranglehold' on City

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Western Powers declared in Paris yesterday that they had turned down Russian proposals which they said would have given Moscow a political and economic stranglehold on Berlin.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was disclosed to have proposed at recent secret sessions of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Council, that the occupying powers name a temporary German commission to run the city pending election of a local government.

Vishinsky suggested Russia name half the members and the United States, Briain and France the other half.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, speaking for himself, Ernest Bevin of Britain and Robert Schuman of France, said that that would not be "fair and equitable," as Vishinsky claimed.

Acheson disclosed that the U. S., backed by Britain and France, had proposed giving Berliners sweeping powers of self-government, similar to those to be held soon by Germans in the Western Occupation Zones.

The Big Four told how they had deadlocked over Berlin at an open session. The meeting was reported in detail to newsmen afterwards by the Ministers' aides.

WORLD TODAY

Vishinsky at one point said they appeared to have agreed on two points—the necessity to cut occupation costs and the need for city-wide elections in Berlin.

Acheson commented that was like agreeing on the whiskers and tail without deciding whether the feature in between was to be fish, flesh or fowl. Vishinsky was scheduled to continue today an attack on the U. S. proposal.

Acheson was quoted as telling the Council that under the proposals the only thing left Berlin's 4,000,000 Germans beyond Soviet consent was death.

In Berlin, Western Commandants ordered the airlift to bring in mail for the Western Sectors. Brig. Gen. Frank Howley, U. S. Commandant, said the order was to prevent censorship and other "Soviet tricks."

Eastern Europe's own cold war—between Tito's Yugoslavia and the Cominform—took a new turn. Four minor Hungarian diplomats were ordered out of Yugoslavia as the result of a spy trial at the border city of Novi Said.

Britain's economic boss, Sir Stafford Cripps, beat down opposition at the ruling Labor Party's annual conference to his "hard labor" policy of holding the line on wages while working for recovery.

Tunnel Under Cell Of Lifer Yields Head

BOSTON—(AP)—A State prison lifetermer was clamped into solitary yesterday after guards found under his ground floor cell a tunnel which they said held about a hundred aids to escape.

They planned to ask him about all of them—particularly a plaster model of a human head, with mattress "hair".

Warden John J. O'Brien identified the lifer as Walter Perry, 43, convicted in 1927 of murder in the shooting of a Boston policeman.

Inside Perry's six foot by four tunnel the guards reported finding: two pickaxes, two hammers, a flashlight, a hand-made bit stock and drill, odd bits of metal, lengths of pipe, a socket for an extension light.

They theorized that when Perry finished his tunnel—he had about 44 feet to go to the outside wall—he planned to tuck the model head into his cot to delay the hunt.

The opening of the tunnel in Perry's ground floor cell was covered by the 14 by 18-inch oilcloth floor matting.

AFL Withdraws From Southern Bell Election

The American Federation of Labor has withdrawn from pending elections to determine the bargaining agent for the 44,000 employees of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, Paul Styles, Regional Director in Atlanta for the National Labor Relations Board, announced yesterday.

Styles said that J. L. Rhodes, Southern AFL Director, had announced the AFL withdrawal in a telegram sent from Washington.

Southern Bell asked for the election after the Communications Workers of America, the union of its employees, voted to affiliate with the CIO. At the time, Rhodes announced that the AFL would offer the CWA employees of the Company "a southwise charter."

Newt Mayes Named To Pension Board

Newt N. Mayes, veteran Fulton County employee, yesterday was elected to the Fulton County Pension Board to succeed Charlie Marler who retired.

Chase Sues for Liberty, Claiming $5,000 Peace Bond Is Excessive

Georgia Communist Chief Homer Bates Chase, held in Fulton Tower in lieu of a $5,000 peace bond, is seeking his release through a writ of habeas corpus.

Superior Court Judge Ralph Pharr scheduled a hearing for 10:30 Friday.

In his petition, filed yesterday by Attys. James R. Venable and Hubert C. Morgan, Chase seeks freedom under various articles of the Georgia and United States Constitutions.

Atty. Venable said the writ was brought because there is no provision for an appeal to higher courts from a peace warrant.

Chase charges that the $5,000 bond fixed by Judge Ralph McClelland, of the Civil Court of Fulton County, is "unreasonable and excessive." Evans Wilder, 20-year-old Cartersville grocery clerk, through his attorney, Daniel Duke, had Chase arrested on a peace warrant. Wilder claimed he feared physical violepce from Chase and his associates because he broke with them after being disillusioned about their Communist doctrine.

The Communist leader cited clauses in the sixth and eighth amendment to the Federal Constitution forbidding excessive bail; the due process clause of Federal and State Constitutions; and the section of the Georgia Constitution guaranteering al' a public and speedy trial by an impartial jury.

'DEAD END KID' OF HOLLYWOOD FAME DEALT NEW DEAL WITH GA. MD DEGREE

AUGUSTA—(AP)—One of the original "Dead End Kids" received his diploma as a doctor of medicine Monday night.

Bernard Punsly—who played "Milty," the fat boy—was graduated from the University of Georgia's School of Medicine in Augusta.

Punsly, still dark-eyed and black-haired but now a slender man of 25, left yesterday for his home in Berkeley, Cal. Later he will intern in the Los Angeles General Hospital.

Punsly said he had wanted to be a doctor since childhood, but it wasn't until he entered the Army in 1942 that he began working toward that goal.

The former actor volunteered when a call went out for soldiers to train as doctors. He was sent to the University of Mississippi, then to Augusta.

Mrs. Robert David Punsly and Miss Joan Punsly came from Berkeley to see their son and brother graduate.

Punsly's first stage appearance was at the age of 18 months. When he was 12 he was one of six applicants selected for the play, "The Dead End Kids." He went to Hollywood 18 months later for the screen version and stayed there until he entered the Army.

Lakewood Fair Lease Faces Airing Monday

Discussions on the renewal of the Southeastern Fair Association's lease of Lakewood park will take place at 4 p. m. Monday at Lakewood.

Ald. Lee Evans, Chairman of City Council's Parks Committee, announced yesterday Mayor Hartsfield, members of the Parks Committee and members of the Association's Executive Committee will attend the conference.

The association's 25-year lease of the City-owned 370-acre tract expires at the end of the year and association officials are anxious to continue its operation. Evans said his committee wants to cooperate, but it is convinced the City should get some return for that portion of Lakewood used as an entertainment center.

Preliminary discussions have disclosed a readiness on the part of association executives to accede to views of City officials, Evans said, but he declined to provide any details, emphasizing that any tentative agreements are subject to change. There were reports that City leaders are reluctant to renew the lease for another 25 years.

"I think the Fair Association has done an all-round good job and we should help it continue to make the fair one of Georgia's major attractions," Evans asserted. "I also believe the City should get some return on its land. Our previous discussions have been exploratory only, but we probably will reduce them to concrete proposals at Monday's meeting."

After the parks committee and fair executives reach an agreement, it must be approved by City Council before becoming effective.

Navy Plan For Equality Is Approved

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A proposed Navy policy to "assure equality of treatment and opportunity" for all Navy and Marine personnel regardless of race, religion or color" was approved yesterday by Secretary of Defense Johnson.

The policy states:

"All personnel will be enlisted or appointed, trained, advanced or promoted, assigned to duty and administered in all respects without regard to race, color, religion or national origin.

"In the utilization of housing, messing, berthing and other facilities, no special or unusual provisions will be made for the accommodation of any minority race."

Asked whether this meant there would be no segregation of Negroes, officials declined to comment.

Johnson had called on all three armed services to submit plans to carry out a directive by President Truman to do away with discrimination.

'Voice' Fund Cut, 'False Economy,' Upheld in Senate

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Senate is standing firm on a $3,656,100 cut in "Voice of America" funds despite protests that it is false economy.

The amendment to strike out the cut which was ordered by the Senate Appropriations Committee, was defeated yesterday on a roll call vote of 45 to 33.

Committee members said that even with the cut they were allowing $4,000,000 more than last year for the foreign propaganda broadcasts.

As finally approved by the Senate, the bill would allow the State Department $32,343,900 for the Voice of America program for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

First Iron Warship To Be Scrapped

ERIE, Pa.—(AP)—The world's first iron battleship is apparently doomed to the scrap heap.

"Only a substantial donation—$10,000 or more—could save the Wolverine," Atty. William Washabaugh, representing the foundation for the original USS Michigan, said yesterday.

Monday a group of Erie citizens was told by City and County officials that little could be done to prevent the warship's scrapping since a contract for the job has already been let.

The vessel, officially called the Michigan, is known locally as the Wolverine.

Cab Driver Fined After 90-MPH Chase

A taxicab driver yesterday was fined $125 on an assortment of charges stemming from a 90-mile-per-hour predawn chase that developed a few hours after police had nabbed Guy "Crash" Waller in Atlanta's most torrid race of the year.

James McDowell, 25, of 1048 Allene Ave., S. W., driver for the Blue and Gray Cab Company, was arraigned on charges of violating the State Motor Vehicle Law, reckless driving, speeding, overrunning five red lights and a stop sign and failing to possess a driver's license.

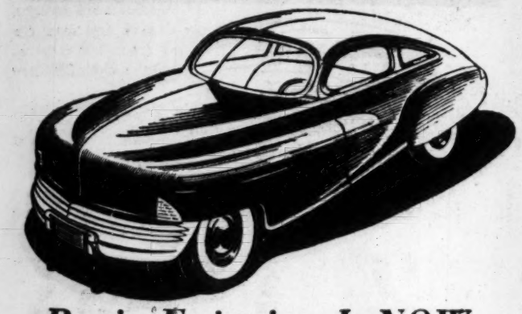

Charges against Waller, stock car racer who was arrested for transporting illegal liquor Monday night after an extensive chase, were continued until July 12.

Dets. W. S. Acree and George Christian who arrested Waller after his gear lever broke at Euclid Avenue and Irwin Streets, said they found 93 gallons of illegal corn whiskey in the car.

MEMBER FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

New Member Of Ports Body

James D. Robinson, Jr., President of the Trust Company of Georgia Associates, was appointed yesterday to the State Ports Authority.

Gov. Talmadge, announcing selection of the Atlanta banker, directed Robinson to proceed quickly toward negotiation a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The State is seeking several million dollars from the RFC to develop a State port at the site of the huge former Savannah Quartermaster Depot, recently bought by Georgia.

Robinson succeeds Col. Blake Van Leer, President of Georgia Tech, who was Chairman of the Authority. Indications were that Robinson might be elected Chairman at the Board's next meeting.

Robinson has been with the Trust Company of Georgia since 1927. The Trust Company of Georgia Associates is a holding company for some of Georgia's largest banks.

Talmadge asked Robinson to arrange a personal hearing before the RFC in Washington. The Governor, Senators George and Russell, of Georgia, the three-man Ports Authority, State Sen. Spence Grayson, of Savannah, Political Leader Roy Harris, of Augusta, Georgia's ten Congressmen, and others would be asked to join in presenting the State's case.

YOUR CITY HALL

By HERMAN HANCOCK

James will succeed veteran Comptroller B. Graham West.

The $200,000 addition to the Municipal Garage will be formally dedicated at noon today when Mayor Hartsfield, City department heads and members of Council's Garage Committee take part in the ceremonies. Councilman John T. Marler, Committee Chairman, will preside.

X-Ray for Employees

City Hall employees will get a free chest X-ray today. Dr. James F. Hackney, City Health Director, said a portable machine will be set up in the Council Chamber.

Mayor's Day

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday completed signing of all measures sent to his desk from Monday's meetings of City Council and the Aldermanic Board. He conferred with Rep. James C. Davis about progress made in efforts to obtain a $2,261,000 Federal appropriation to start construction work on the $23,000,000 Buford Dam and Davis said he is encouraged. He inspected the Plaza and the Techwood Drive extension and last night addressed the newly formed Little Five Points Business Men's Association.

To Open Negro Park Bids

Bids for construction of a combination bathhouse and community building for the $300,000 new Negro park near Crogman School will be opened June 27, Georgie I. Simons, Parks Manager, told members of Council's Parks Committee yesterday. The Committee also approved plans for the construction of community buildings at Knight and Perkerson Parks costing an estimated $20,000 each, and allocation of $1,000 to help finance a swimming meet this Fall between Atlanta and Cuban experts. They agreed with Henry Davis, West End leader, that plans should be prepared for construction of a new zoo for Grant Park so that if another public works program is undertaken by the Federal Government, Atlanta would be ready to proceed without delay.

Want Woman Appointee

Members of the Atlanta Business and Professional Women's Club yesterday urged Mayor Hartsfield to appoint a woman to succeed James P. Allen as a member of the City Personnel Board. Allen's term has expired. A committee from the woman's group included Mrs. Helen Douglas Mankin, Miss Grace Hartley and Miss Addie Lou Gilbert. They furnished Hartsfield with a list containing the names of several, any of whom they said would be an excellent choice.

Harkness Tells Kiwanis U. S. Faces Crossroads

American business has "the responsibility and challenge of keeping the United States on the middle road of American free enterprise," Richard Harkness, noted radio commentator, told the Atlanta Kiwanis Club here.

Harkness, in a "report from Washington," declared the average American "feels he has lost his stake in the American free enterprise system" and warned the U. S. "faces an economic crossroads." He said events of the near future would determine "whether or not we go the way of Great Britain toward financial bankruptcy and socialism."

The speaker drew applause in a sharp attack on socialized medicine but pointed out some businesses offer employees "valuable health insurance plans." He declared Washington leaders and business "must work on local levels to educate the people and fight a prevailing spirit of pessimism."

Kiwanians yesterday celebrated the anniversary of their 1918 Charter Day.

'Big Jim' Suffers Setback by Solons

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(INS)—Gov. James E. "Big Jim" Folsom, of Alabama, yesterday suffered another setback at the hands of the State Legislature, as both Houses overrode his veto and passed a measure curbing his spending. The measure is now law.

The Representatives, by a vote of 68-32, voted immediate restrictions on the controversial temporary clerk hire fund. Earlier, the House killed a Folsom amendment which would have exempted the chief executive's office from the limitation by a 66-35 vote.

The Senate vote was 26-8 to override the veto.

HOW ALIENS ARE KEPT OUT

Martin Writes in Post Of U. S. Border Patrol

The Constitution's Harold Martin has written an adventure-packed article in the current Saturday Evening Post about the Border Patrol—a "handful of tough, smart, specially picked men" who guard America's shore line from aliens trying to slip into this country.

The article, "They Guard Our Coast From Aliens," is illustrated by seven full-color photographs.

Martin, Constitution columnist, points out that aliens are smuggled by sea and air from Cuba's isolated bays and inlets to the "equally open" coast of the United States.

But the Border Patrol, a branch of the Immigration and Naturalization Service of the Department of Justice, has captured hundreds of aliens—many of whom were being aided by Americans "willing to do a little smuggling for a fee."

"In the 25 years since America installed the immigrant quota system," Martin writes, "Border Patrolmen have caught aliens hidden in trucks of fish and vegetables, in false gas tanks on automobiles and in ventilated coffins. They have captured them while sneaking across the ice of the Detroit River during snowstorms, wrapped in sheets. They have trailed 'wetback' Mexicans through the deserts along the Rio Grande and have made their captures there after blazing gun fights in the moonlight."

New Chief Of AMA Hits Health Plan

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(UP) Politically controlled medical care, supported by a compulsory tax, "is an early but essential part of the development of a socialized nation, the forerunner of various forms of collectivism," Dr. Ernest E. Irons, new President of the American Medical Association, said last night.

The Chicago doctor, addressing the annual meeting of the Association, charged that advocates of the plan to force Americans to buy health insurance were copying similar programs in foreign lands which are "decadent."

He said that "discovery, invention and research have made possible the prevention and cure of disease to an extent previously never imagined," in the United States.

"One by one, diseases such as pneumonia, meningitis, tuberculosis, venereal diseases, diabetes, diphtheria and pernicious anemia, which formerly were responsible for hundreds of thousands of deaths and incalculable days of illness, are being controlled by new remedies or prevented by appropriate medical and sanitary measures," he said.

Irons also cited that in 1900 the expectation of duration of life at birth was 49 years.

"In 1949," he said, "it is 68 years."

He said that "compulsory sickness insurance" is not necessary and cited the success of the numerous voluntary health insurance plans, which the AMA seeks to extend.

YOUTH IN ACTION

250 Boys Govern Mythical State

By BILL BORING
Constitution Staff Writer

WARM SPRINGS—Two hundred and fifty high school youths from throughout Georgia are encamped at Bar Rest Boys' Ranch here, studying and exercising the duties and responsibilities of citizenship.

The encampment, which assembled Sunday and continues through Saturday, is sponsored by the American Legion Department of Georgia and known as Boys' State.

A mythical State has been set up by the boys, from municipal and county officers through all branches of the State Government.

The boys perform all functions of government, setting up courts for the trial of mock offenses, establishing political parties and running for offices.

Yesterday the two political parties were organized and the machinery set up for the election of a slate of officers for Boys' State. A Governor, a Senate and House of Representatives, and a full lineup of State officers will be elected.

The candidates for offices deliver platform speeches, distribute literature and make use of a sound truck in campaigning.

The Statewide election is slated for Friday. Tomorrow the group will make a trip to Atlanta, where, in the State Capitol, they will hear addresses by Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin, Secretary of State Ben W. Fortson, Jr., Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook and Adjt. Gen. Ernest Vandiver, Jr.

Charlie Morgan, Sr., is Director of the program.

Southwest Fulton Group Plans Outing

The Federation of Civic Clubs of Southwest Fulton County will hold a barbecue today at 6 p. m. on the grounds of the Cedar Grove School near Ben Hill.

Five civic groups — from Ben Hill, Cedar Grove, Rico, Sandtown, and Tell—will attend, with an expected 600 to 700 delegates. State Sen. Roy LeCraw will speak.

J. Carl Chappell, Federation Chairman, said purpose of the outing was "to get members better acquainted and to acquaint residents of other sections of the County with the roads the Federation is striving to have hard-surfaced."

Ex-Sheriff Off For Term in U. S. Pen Here

Chattooga County ex-Sheriff A. H. "Tiny" Glenn, sentenced recently to an 18-month prison sentence for conspiracy to defraud the Government, yesterday left Rome to begin his term in the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary.

Glenn, who was scheduled to begin serving his sentence July 15, requested that his sentence become effective immediately. Granting the request, U. S. District Court Judge Robert L. Russell yesterday signed a court order committing Glenn to the prison.

Prison attaches last night declined to affirm or deny Glenn's commitment here.

Jack Hartline, of Summerville, and Ed Knight, State Legislator from Gilmer County, who also were convicted with Glenn, will report to prison on July 15, as the order requires.

Glenn, Hartline and Knight are alleged to have conspired to defraud the Government of Internal Revenue funds. The Government held that the trio operated a large liquor ring in northwest Georgia and received "protection money" from bootleggers.

JOHN BRADBERRY

Ott Here To See Giant Rookies

Editor's Note: John Bradberry is on vacation. While away his daily column will be written by members of The Constitution sports staff.

By JESSE OUTLAR

Mel Ott, in town to look over two ballplayers in whom the New York Giants have invested well over $100,000, was standing in the hotel lobby yesterday talking about his two favorite topics—baseball and John McGraw.

Hank DeBerry, Giant scout; Rollie Hemsley, Nashville Manager, several ballplayers and this writer were interested listeners as Mel recalled some of the colorful yarns about McGraw, the manager who is a legend wherever the game is played.

It was under McGraw that Mel himself became one of the greatest outfielders baseball has ever known. You'll find the name of Ott listed in the National League record book more than any other player.

But standing there observing Ott as he recounted a few of the great McGraw stories, you'd never guess that he's a veteran of 24 years in baseball, 23 of them as an active player and manager and one as a front office man.

In fact, he looks as if he could step out on the diamond and add a few more figures to that crowded record book. Before he hung up his spikes, Mel established a new mark every time he hit a homer, drove in a run, made an extra base hit and too many other things to mention.

Likes Rookies Ott is optimistic about that heavy investment the Giants have in the two Southern League youngsters, Dave Williams, of the Crackers, and Tookie Gilbert, of Nashville.

Although he has only seen Dave play twice, Mel was impressed with the Cracker second baseman. "Of course," he said, "you can't judge any ballplayer in two games, but I was definitely pleased by Williams' speed and his unusual co-ordination.

"After hearing so many fine things about Dave, I'm glad to get a chance to look him over. He's bound to be a prospect, for so many keen baseball observers can't be wrong.

"Gilbert I know more about, for I have seen him in several games and he has a good chance of making a name for himself in baseball. I'm certainly pleased with the way he's been hitting lately. You can say that he's a greatly improved ballplayer this year."

Mel didn't say so, but he may have been talking about two kids who will be making up the right side of the Giants infield in the not too distant future.

Pennant Race When the torrid National League pennant race was mentioned, Ott promptly switched the conversation to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"You can't ever count them out," he said. "It looks as if Howie Pollett has finally regained his old-time form, which, of course, makes him one of the best southpaws in the business. In Ted Wilks, they have a great relief man; Brecheen is always tough and fellows like Musial, Slaughter and Kazak are pounding the ball. Also, Red Schoendienst is hitting like he never has before."

Mel shifted about, took a deep puff on his cigarette, and exclaimed: "But in my opinion, the real reason the Cards are clicking is this Marion. He's sound physically again and is still one of the best shortstops in the business."

How about your own ball club?

"We'll be in there to the finish. Kirby Higbe, whom we acquired from Pittsburgh Monday in the trade for Bobby Rhawn and Ray Poat, should be a big help. I think Kirby can win for Leo.

"Naturally, pitching is our problem. As everyone knows, we have the power. Mize, Gordon, Marshall, Lockman and the others can break up any ball game at any time. So Higbe could mean a big difference.

"You can't overlook Brooklyn," Mel continued, "Shotton has depth in almost every position. There are boys on the bench every day just as good as those in the lineup. They have pitching, speed, power.

"Boston is a definite threat. The Braves have Sain, Spahn and Bickford, three of the best hurlers in the league, and two fine relief pitchers in Bobby Hogue and Nels Potter. Right now, they miss Earl Torgeson, who is still sidelined with a fractured collarbone. But he'll be back."

Ott paused for a moment and then said: "To sum it up, this race could end just as it is now, with any of four clubs on top."

Nats Ship Thompson To Oakland Club

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Washington Senators yesterday optioned Pitcher Forrest Thompson to Oakland, in the Pacific Coast League. In return, the Oaks are sending Left-hander Lloyd Hittle to Washington immediately.

Owener Clark Griffith said that Hittle, whom the Senators purchased a few weeks ago when they sent Hurler Milo Candini and $40,000 to California, will join the Nats in Detroit this Friday.

Vols Explode in 8th To Beat Crackers

Taylor Drops Fifth, 5-1; Lookouts Here Tonight

By F. M. WILLIAMS

Jack Taylor pitched a baseball game few hurlers dare dream about for seven innings last night, then suffered a nightmare not even a blood thirty fan would want him to go through in the eighth as the Nashville Vols exploded for four runs to start them on their way to a 5 to 1 victory over the Atlanta Crackers.

The game ended the series with each club holding three victories but it was Taylor's fifth loss and the kid has yet to pitch one bad game.

The rookie right-hander was sailing along on a four-hitter, holding a 1 to 0 lead, when Lady Luck and Carl Sawatski both frowned on him in the eighth.

It all started when Jim Kirby's one-hopper right at "Rusty" Morgan took a bad hop and went over the third sacker's head for a hit. Then Tookie Gilbert lined to right and the ball was just out of Charlie Woddail's reach for a double, Kirby stopping at third.

"Babe" Barna was called out on strikes, but Bob Borkowski doubled a roller down the third base line which Morgan wisely let roll. As the Lady called Luck would have it, the ball hit the third base bag for an infield single, instead of going foul as the Crackers had hoped. Kirby scored the tying run on it.

Then Sawatski settled the issue. He slashed a vicious line drive against the right centerfield signs for a triple, sending in Gilbert and Borkowski, and scored himself on a single by Floyd Fogg.

The Vols got another in the ninth on singles by Don Alfano, Kirby and Gilbert, the latter two being of the infield variety and a long fly to right by Barna that Woddail dropped. The Cracker got an error but Barna got a run batted in for Charlie couldn't have thrown Alfano out if he'd had a howitzer for an arm.

The Crackers had only two real chances to win the game. They got to Hi Bithorn, former Chicago Cub star for three singles, by Dave Williams, Al Flair and Lloyd Gearhart, for their only run in the fourth inning.

The bases were loaded in the seventh on a single by Manager Cliff Dapper, a sacrifice by Taylor, which Bithorn juggled, and a hit batsman. But with only one away, Williams popped foul to first and Flair rolled to second to end the inning.

Bithorn was lifted in the eighth after getting two men out. He walked Gene Verble and Dapper singled to center, so Vol Manager Rollie Hemsley waved in Ben Wade who struck out pinch hitter Jim Bagby to end the inning.

Chattanooga's Lookouts move into town tonight for the first of three games and Nashville goes to Birmingham to attempt to halt the high-flying Barons.

Bagby, who won his last start and then captured another victory in relief, will hurl for the Crackers but the Lookout twirler was not announced.

SHORT NOTES: Art Fowler returned from Spartanburg yesterday. . . . His wife has left the hospital following a serious operation, the right-handed relief pitcher said. . . . Chet Hajduk was in uniform prior to the game and worked out lightly. . . Whirlpool baths will be continued, the first baseman-third baseman said, and he thinks he'll be ready to go by the time the team leaves on a road trip Saturday.

Carl Sawatski was fined $15 for his altercation with Umpire Delmore Monday night. . . . That's the same thing Manager Dapper got when he was chased recently. . . . ust for the record, out of 46 games the Crac ers have played this year, McCutcheon and Malesky have umpired 17 of them.

R. Brown regained a tie for the league's base steal.ng lead in the first inning when he swiped second. . . . He and Dave Williams had 12 each at this point. . . . Br wn, incidentally, beat out drag bunts the first two times he went to bat.

Bithorn pitched out of a tough sp t in the seventh. . . . Dapper singled, Taylor sacrificed and was safe when Bithorn bobbled the ball. . . . Then R. Brown sacrificed and Morgan was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases with only one out. The Vol twirler got out of trouble by getting Williams on a pop to first and Flair on a roller to second.

Odds on it ever happening again are staggering, but after last night's games, five of the eight Southern Association teams had won 26 games each. Atlanta, Nashville, Mobile, Little Rock and New Orleans are the five teams.

Another unusual incident is the fact that six clubs are playing better than .500 ball.

had to leave the second game in the seventh after hurting his leg while running out a double, his second hit of the tilt. Relief Pitcher Johnson received credit for the 12-7 victory.

The Lookouts' Jay Difani smacked a homer in the seventh inning of the nightcap and Ralph Atkins hit for the circuit in the eighth for the Barons.

A Birmingham Ladies' Night crowd of 13,807 saw the doubleheader.

Mervin Rotblatt held the New Orleans Pels hitless for five innings but had to have help from Bob Goodwin in the eighth as the Memphis Chicks carved out a 5-2 victory at New Orleans. The triumph was the third for the Chicks in the four-game series.

Mobile climbed into a tie with Nashville for third place by sweeping a double-header from Little Rock, 5-3, 5-4, at Mobile. George Shuba, who has provided the spark for the Bears recent winning spurt, collected four hits in five hits in the first game.

Lookouts Split Pair With Barons

Bobo Newsom tried the iron-man act as the Chattanooga Lookouts split a twin-bill with pace-setting Birmingham last night, but all that Bobo got for his efforts was a defeat and an injured leg.

Newsom dropped the first game, 3-2, in a pitchers duel with Earl Caldwell, 42-year-old relief hurler who was making his first start. He

PGA Golf Clinic Well Received

The first in a series of Atlanta PGA-sponsored golf clinics for the small fry was staged under the lights at North Fulton Park's polo field last night, and judging by the way the youngsters participated, the program is going to be a very successful one.

Willis Foland, assistant East Lake professional who did most of the preliminary work on the program was very much enthused over last night's opening clinic.

Local PGA members, which included Bill Hall and Bobby Stowe, Adams Park; Papa Beckett, Capital City; Albert Jones and Paul Lavin, North Fulton; Leo Beckmann, Peachtree Club; Johnny Livingstone, Standard Club; Jimmy Livingstone, Legion Club; Elmer Reed, unattached; Charlie Miller, Druid Hills; Charlie Edwards, West End; Warren Schultz and Harold Sargent, East Lake, all assisted with the classes.

Tommy Barnes, leading Southern amateur player, and Miller demonstrated shots for the youngsters. Among the youngsters who attended the clinic were: George McCoy, Tommy Barnes, Jr., Peter Mayfield, Bob Cowhern, Bill Pope, Bill Horton, Hank Williams, Lewis H. Lackey, Bobby Lemming and Bobby Pierce. The latter two were particularly outstanding.

The next clinic will be staged at North Fulton, the night of June 21.

Tricky Medinah Course To Halt Sub-Par Scores in Open Golf Tournament

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO—(AP)—The big shot pros, in the habit of snubbing par golf in winning tournaments, now have great respect for that figure as the National Open championship approaches.

All of the top players, used to stringing out 69s, 68s, etc., to challenge in other meets this season, think they have found their match on Medinah No. 3, which snakes 7,040 yards through a forest.

Medinah's par of 36-35—71 has never been taken with such open-mouth awe before. There isn't a player present who will not settle for a 72-hole 284 (even par) to win golf's most cherished title.

Yep, par has finally come into its own as the boys limber up for the 49th renewal of the big show.

Lowest practice round reported thus far was a 68 by South African Bobby Locke. He needed only 22 putts.

"This course is by far the toughest I've ever played," said Bobby. "I needed plenty of luck for that 68. The course is awfully tight—narrow fairways. The trees right on the border. I think about a 285 will make it. No one will escape at least two double bogeys (two over par) during the 72 holes."

Locke, one of the favorites, lists Herman Barron who finished next to him in the Goodall round robin last month as his personal favorite.

"Barron hits a terrific fairway shot, is straight off the tees and is a good putter — that's a fine combination for this tournament" Locke explained.

Barron himself was willing to give 5-3 odds that a 286 would take the prize.

"I carded a couple of 76s and was thankful for them," the White Plains, N. Y., pro observed.

The average winning score in the last 10 National Opens is 285.2, including Ben Hogan's record 276 last year. So it is no wonder the pros have adjusted their sights above par especially when they regard Medinah No. 3 the toughest test offered in that time.

Here is what others have to say:

Jim Turnesa—"Talk about one-putting for birdies—a lot of us will have to do it for bogeys here. Four rounds of par shooting will be unbeatable."

Vic Ghezzi—"A 287 will be good in my book. I'll bet the eventual winner will have a 75 included on one of his rounds."

Bob Hamilton, 1944 PGA champion—"This is a monstrosity of a course. The pros rate it par 72 or 73 after trying it out. The Chicago District Golf Association rates it 75 from the shorter tees. The greens are way too small for the size of the layout and I don't think the course is in any too good of shape, either. A 286 is as good as gold."

Mrs. Art Mims Wins In AWGA Tourney

Mrs. Art Mims captured first place in the weekly AWGA play day tournament yesterday at East Lake with a net score of 69.

Mrs. S. M. Weatherall placed second with a net 71.

In the second division, Mrs. Albert Donnaud was the winner with a 70, while second prize went to Mrs. L. Dowdell, who carded a 73.

Mrs. T. I. Miller posted a net 67 to take third division honors. Mrs. W. N. Lamberson was low in division four, registering a net 72.

The final round of the AWGA round robin tournament is scheduled for next Tuesday morning at East Lake No. 1.

'Looks Close' Says Louis Of Title Bout

"It looks like a close fight" is all Joe Louis will say directly about the forthcoming Ezzard Charles-Jersey Joe Walcott bout to determine the Brown Bomber's successor as heavyweight champion of the world, but discussing the qualities of the two contenders on a visit here yesterday, Joe left the impression he leans slightly towards Walcott.

"Walcott has the experience," Louis said. "He'll stall a lot more than Charles, he'll feint and run away and he' be tough on the in-fighting."

Charles, on the other hand, has the advantage of youth and is certain to be the aggressor in the battle which Louis and two business partners are promoting in Chicago June 22.

Louis is in Atlanta to receive a special citation for distinguished service to his race from Morris Brown College. It will be awarded this morning at 10 o'clock at ceremonies at the school.

It is his second trip here within a year. He started a Nation-wide exhibition boxing tour that culminated with his retirement announcement with a bout at the Morris Brown stadium last June.

Louis, Arthur Wertz and James Norris recently formed the International Boxing Association and their first promotional venture will be a middleweight championship bout between Marcel Cerdan and Jake LaMotta on June 15 in Detroit.

One week later they follow with the heavyweight title show.

Louis said the Charles-Walcott bout has attracted wide interest and estimated the gate would exceed $350,000.

Joe twice defeated Walcott in title clashes, knocking him out the last time, but the ex-champ never met Charles during his career.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

No Pacts Offered 'Jumpers'--Saigh

Condensed From AP, UP, INS Wire Reports

Pitchers Max Lanier and Fred Martin informed Attorney John Flynn yesterday that they have rejected contract offers from Owner Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals. Both players claim that they are making more money pitching in an "outlaw" league in Canada.

Meanwhile, Saigh said in St. Louis that he had not offered Lanier and Martin any contract, although he had talked to Lanier on the telephone.

According to Flynn, Lanier was offered $11,000 and Martin $5,000, exactly what they were making when they jumped to the Mexican League. Flynn also announced that Lanier had been turned down in a request for his release so that he might dicker with some other major league team.

Ford Frick, National League President, warned all the "jumpers" that they must clear contract obligations with teams before applying for reinstatement.

At Winner, S. D., Peewee Rutherford, Secretary of the semi-pro Winner team, said that the club will match any offer that the Brooklyn Dodgers make to Mickey Owen. Owen, manager of the Winner team since May, told reporters that he had a lot of work to clean up before he could report even if he comes to terms with the Dodgers.

Former New York Giants Coach Adolfo Luque said in Havana that he will return to the Giants if they want him back. Once a pitching star, Luque put in 13 years with the New York club as a player and a coach.

BRIEF BITS—Willie Pep has signed to defend his featherweight title against Eddie Campo at Waterbury, Conn., July 12. . . . Bill Holland, Indianapolis Speedway winner, was given a hero's reception by his home town of Reading, Pa. . . . Dade Park and River Downs race tracks will introduce plug horse races this Summer. . . . Apprentice Lee Harris was the only jockey injured in a four-horse fall at Belmont yesterday. Harris was hospitalized, however, his injuries are not thought to be of a serious nature. . . . Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles will use 6-ounce gloves instead of the customary eight-ounce used in Illinois when they meet at Comiskey Park in Chicago for the heavyweight championship. . . . Four more trainers were suspended from Illinois horse tracks in the doping epidemic which has been sweeping the nation. . . . Stewards at Hollywood Park grounded veteran Jockey Johnny Longden for three days for careless riding. . . . Three former St. Louis Browns now with the Boston Red Sox testified in behalf of ex-Pitcher Steve Sundra in his suit against the St. Louis Americans. The players, Jack Kramer, Al Zarilla and Vern Stephens, all stated that Sundra participated in Spring training activities. Sundra is suing to gain the balance of his pay for the 1946 season when he was released on May 26.

Dodgers Beat Cubs, 7-1, Take Over First Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preacher Roe pitched Brooklyn into first place by striking out 10 men in a six-hit, 7-1 victory over the wobbly Chicago Cubs yesterday. The Dodgers moved ahead of the New York Giants who lost a night tilt to the St. Louis Cards, 3-0.

The veteran lefthander lost his shutout on Andy Pafko's seventh inning homer but he coasted in after the Brooks routed Dutch Leonard in a four-run sixth inning.

Marv Rackley, returned to Brooklyn by Pittsburgh when the deal for Johnny Hopp was cancelled by mutual consent, started in left field He went hitless and was replaced by Mike McCormick Chipman, came into the game. Rackley, reportedly suffering with a sore arm during his Pittsburgh stay, replaced Gene Hermanski who aggravated a charley-horse Monday night.

Stan Musial and Harry Brecheen teamed up to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to victory over the New York Giants before 50,000 fans at the Polo Grounds. Musial belted two homers, his tenth and eleventh of the season, and drove in all the Cards' runs. Brecheen allowed only five hits. The Giants were tied for first place with Brooklyn prior to yesterday, but dropped into fourth place as a result of the loss. The Cards took over second and Boston third.

Pinch Hitter Tommy Holes scored the winning run on Al Dark's foul fly to right with the bases loaded in the ninth to give the Boston Braves a 6-5 win over the Cincinnati Reds before a 15,031 crowd at Boston. Eddie Stanky drew a pass to force in the tying run in that same frame.

Four hits in the ninth capped by Andy Seminick's single gave the Philadelphia Phillies two runs and a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates at Philadelphia.

The St. Louis Browns used a 10-hit attack—including four doubles—to back up Red Embree's six-hit pitching and defeat the Boston Red Sox 6 to 2 last night at Sportsman Park. It was the 12th victory of the season for the American League cellar team.

The Detroit Tigers clipped a full game of the New York Yankees' American League lead yesterday as they beat Yankee Southpaw Ed Popat 5-2 for his first setback of

The victory gave Detroit second place, 5½ games behind the New Yorkers.

Lopat, who had won five straight up to yesterday, saw the Tigers bunch six of their nine hits in two innings—the first and fourth—for all their runs.

In a wild 3-hour game, which included a near riot among players, the Cleveland Indians last night edged the Washington Senators 13-11 before 18,000 fans at Cleveland.

Players streamed from both benches in the fourth inning when Joe Gordon strode with fists clenched toward Senator Pitcher Walter Masterson after being struck by a pitched ball. Umpires stepped between the two men before any blows were struck, but players milled about the field for 15 minutes before order was restored. No one was banished.

Lou Brissie came through with 10 strike-outs and 10-hit pitching under Cominsky Park lights as the Philadelphia Athletics opened a three-game series here with a 7 to 4 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

Kid Gavilan KOs Cliff Hart in 2d

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(AP)—Kid Gavilan, number one challenger for the world welterweight championship, knocked out Cliff Hart of Syracuse last night with a two-fisted barrage in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout at MacArthur Stadium.

The Cuban Hawk weighed 145 3/5. Hart weighed 146.

Referee Jack Michaels stopped the bout at one minute, 33 seconds of the round, after Hart had hit the canvas for the third time.

Riggs To Play

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bobby Riggs, of Chicago, has cabled his entry from London for the U. S. pro tennis championships at Forest Hills June 20-26, Tourney Chairman Hal Barker said yesterday.

Smith, Allen to Drive In Stock Car Races

Jack Smith, one of the South's outstanding drivers, will be among the participants in the stock car auto races at Lakewood Speedway, Sunday.

Smith, who resides in Alpharetta, is the current point leader in the National Stock Car Racing Association championship. A recent feature winner at Columbus, he finished second in the featured racing event at Lakewood last month.

Olin Allen, Atlanta, the Lakewood winner, is another entrant for the races, Sunday. Both men will drive 1939 Ford V-8 coupes.

Roosevelt Meets Lanier In Tournament Opener

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Four teams from Greater Atlanta, two from Savannah and one from Macon will match base hits and curve balls in the 1949 Georgia State Class A high school single-elimination baseball tournament which will begin its three-day run here today and tonight with three games on tap.

Spec Landrum's Roosevelt nine, which won 12 games in 15 starts and finished second to Carl Fletcher's Brown Rebels in the City League (Region 3) chase, will take on Lem Clark's Lanier Poets, Macon's ever powerful and annual contender, in the 1:30 p. m. opener at Georgia Tech's Rose Bowl Field. The mid-Staters hung up 19 triumphs in 24 starts.

Chick Shiver will send his Savannah Blue Jackets, second place team in Region 2 with four late-season victories after a slow start, against Duck Smith's Marist entry, triumphant in 10 of 12 outings and co-holder of the Region 4 title with Ray Taylor's North Fulton nine, the only club to draw a first round bye. The Marist-Savannah game is listed at 4 o'clock at Rose Bowl.

Brown High's Johnny Rebs must take on the only unbeaten team in the tournament, John Beattie's Benedictine College, of Savannah, under the South Fulton Park lights at 8 o'clock. BC, with eight straight verdicts, and the Rebs, with a 13-1 record, might come up with the classic of the day.

Either Eddie Webster or Johnny Carson is expected to fling for Roosevelt today, with Donald Lewis, Baxter Hunnicutt or Robert Murphy slated to toe the slab for Lanier.

Shiver plans to open with Bobby Arams on the mound against Marist, while Smith won't decide until today between Chappell Rhino and Hansford Jones, both right-handers.

There is little doubt that Benedictine will send sensational Johnny Williams, a lad the big league scouts are contemplating with "bugged out eyes," to the firing line against Brown. Fletcher is waiting until today to pick his starter from among Bill Darden, Buddy Young and Carl McGee. There isn't a harsbreadth difference in the ability of the three right-handers.

The Lanier-Roosevelt survivor will tangle with the Savannah-Marist winner in one semifinal tomorrow at 3 o'clock at Rose Bowl, and the Brown-BC victor will meet North Fulton and Ace Flinger Billy Sewell at 8 p. m. under the South Fulton arcs. Finals will be at the same site on Friday night.

Trophies will go to the winner and runnerup schools. Gold balls are to be awarded 15 players on the championship team, and a like number of silver balls will go to players on the runner-up club.

The champion will succeed Decatur Boys High as State A titlist and will play Gainesville's State Class B champs for the right to compete in the Southeastern tournament at Johnson City, Tenn., the following week.

Lanier (1946), West Fulton (1947), and Decatur (1948), are the teams that have represented Georgia in the Southeastern meet in its three years of existence. Jesuit, of New Orleans, copped the first meet in Atlanta, and Jackson, Miss., the last two in Jackson, Miss., and Lakeland, Florida.

Fulton Routs N. Fulton, 12-2, To Win NGIC Title

Fulton's Redbirds nailed down the NGIC championship yesterday by parlaying a 15-hit assault against Jimmy Davenport and John Donaldson, with Milton Martin's five-hit flinging for a 12-2 victory over North Fulton at Tech's Rose Bowl Field.

It was the triumph that the Redbirds needed to clinch the title for a North Fulton win would have thrown the race into a three-way tie between Fulton, North Fulton and Canton.

Bill Chonko's boys didn't take any chances in this make-up tilt, which had been rained out during the regular season, for they jumped into a three-run lead in the first inning and then stacked up a three-run surplus in the second.

Martin kept North Fulton under control all the way, and would have had a shutout, but for two unearned runs. He fanned eight batters.

Harry Goss paced the Fulton attack with four hits in five trips, including two triples, and Herbert O'Neal belted a homer.

It was a loosely played contest, with the losers committing five errors. The two teams stole a total of 12 bases.

BELIEVED WORST CRASH IN COMMERCIAL AVIATION

54 Feared Dead as C-46 Plunges Into Shark-Filled San Juan Seas

Twenty-nine persons were killed yesterday when a Brazilian Air Force DC-3 caught fire and crashed into the side of a mountain south of Florianapolis in the Brazilian State of Santa Catarina. Most of the victims were women members of the families of Air Ministry personnel en route to Porto Alegro.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—(INS) Fifty-four persons were listed officially as dead or missing last night in the early morning plunge of a big C-46 into the ocean off San Juan.

If none of the missing are found alive—and little hope was held out that they would—this would be the worst disaster in commercial aviation history. The previous top death toll came in the crash of an airliner near Bainbridge, Md., on May 30, 1947, when 53 lives were lost.

The twin-engined plane was enroute to Newark, N. J., with 75 Puerto Rican passengers—including 18 infants and children. It sank in six minutes in shark-infested waters after one engine conked out and the plane plunged into the sea off Salinas Point.

An official count showed that of the 81 occupants of the plane, only 22 passengers and five members of the crew were rescued.

Late yesterday United States Navy divers from the vessel Opportune went down 40 feet to free the bodies of those trapped in the plane.

The crash took the life of Capt. Alfred O. Cockrill, of Pittsfield, Mass., an officer of the Strato Freight Company, Inc., which operated the unscheduled airline.

Judy Hale, of Binghamton, N. Y., heroic stewardess who clung to a rock for five hours, saved a Puerto Rican passenger, Consuelo Rodriguez, of Ponce, by holding her afloat until help arrived.

Capt. Lee Wakefield, the pilot, of Stanford, Conn., tried to ease the huge ship down on the ocean as close to shore as possible.

Representatives of the Strato Freight Company, which has its main office at Winsor Locks, Conn., said the following crew members were rescued in addition to Wakefield and Stewardess Hale:

SENATORS PROBE HOSPITAL

fare Director Forrester and Deputy Director Dechman in their dispute with the doctors. Talmadge stuck to his guns in the face of sharp criticism from former House Speaker Roy Harris, one of his chief political advisors.

Meanwhile, members of the group were anticipating a meeting of the Social Security Board at the Milledgeville State Hospital at 10 a. m. today. Forrester as Chairman of the Board said: "I have no idea what action the Board will take."

Physicians pointed out the Board is an advisory group and Forrester may or may not be bound by their recommendations. Andrew J. Tuten, of Alma, has been sworn in by Gov. Talmadge to fill a vacancy on the Board, Forrester said.

Doctors who declined Forrester's proposal included Dr. John D. Wiley, who according to Milledgeville rumors is being considered for the post of Medical Director to replace Dr. P. L. Williams, of Cordele. Dr. Williams was elevated to the post of Acting Deputy Director in charge of the Medical Division yesterday, but said he would hold it only temporarily.

"I am not interested in being Superintendent," Dr. Wiley declared. "In fact, I am not interested in Mr. Forrester's offer as long as it means that Mr. Dechman will remain."

Joining Dr. Wiley in rejecting Forrester's compromise were Dr. Y. H. Yarbrough, who said he would not consider going back without Dr. Peacock and Dr. Bradford; Dr. T. C. Clodfelter, Dr. D. C. Williams, Sr., Dr. R. B. Crichton and Dr. J. K. Fussell.

Dr. Fussell, of Douglas, was included by Forrester in a list of four doctors who had agreed to remain at the hospital, although he had earlier signed a petition informing Gov. Talmadge of his intention to resign.

Dr. Fussell said last night he had been "misunderstood" and fully intended to resign with the other doctors.

Offers of positions from other mental institutions were coming in to ousted members of the medical staff yesterday. Two State hospitals were said to have invited the entire group of 14 physicians to visit them with a view to accepting positions. Dr. Peacock said he would not disclose the names of the States until the doctors had made their decisions.

Meanwhile, the doctors who were allowed into the buildings visited patients who were seriously ill and administered treatment. All of them attempted to return to their buildings to make themselves available for emergencies but some of them were denied admittance by attendants who said they had orders from Dechman to have any doctor arrested who attempted to re-enter his building. For the most part, the doctors and their wives remained in their homes and visited back and forth in the doctors' community. They were denied the use of hospital telephones for long distance calls but continued to receive some local calls.

Two additional doctors retained to take the place of those who quit joined the staff yesterday, and Forrester announced that he had retained four physicians attached to the Binion Clinic in Milledgeville to answer emergency calls. He said he had agreed to pay them an $800-a-month retainer for this service.

Dr. I. H. Hunter, of Valdosta, and Dr. Jacob Haslam, of Ft. Valley, are expected to report today, Forrester said.

At Augusta, Harris split sharply with the Governor over the issue, and wired Talmadge that "the Milledgeville Hospital situation is blowing you sky high." The former House Speaker charged that "Jack Forrester will wreck and ruin anything on earth that he touches," and said the Welfare Director is "as bullheaded as a man can get to be."

The Governor had a terse "no comment" on Harris' telegram. Forrester comment was: "Everybody in Georgia knows Roy Harris. He needs no introduction."

Talmadge said later, however, that "Forrester and Dechman have assured me that they can save $500.000 a year in the operation of the State Mental Hospital at Milledgeville, through the elimination of waste and graft and through efficient operation.

"This $500,000 could best be spent in providing better care and facilities for the unfortunate patients there rather than being dissipated through waste, graft, corruption and inefficiency.

"Mr. Forrester and Mr. Dechman have set about to correct these deficiencies and that is the reason some who have heretofore exploited the institution to enrich themselves are howling."

Forrester said that under the new plan of organization, the Medical Department will have charge of all doctors, nurses, all types of therapy, social service and "everything in connection with medicine." Dechman, whose administration the doctors protested, will be Deputy Director of the Administrative Division and have charge of all business, farming and engineering activities.

In Americus, former Acting Gov. M. E. Thompson seized upon the Milledgeville crisis to take another verbal swing at Talmadge.

"The playing Governor of Georgia should resign and devote all his time to playing," Thompson said. "The State Hospital at Milledgeville is in a mess," he added, declaring the rupture there is a "shame and disgrace."

Harris Denies Split With Talmadge

Former House Speaker Roy Harris, who differed sharply with Gov. Talmadge yesterday over the cause of the Milledgeville State Hospital crisis, said there has been no political split between them. He left Augusta last night for a conference with the Governor today.

He predicted the hospital controversy will be ironed out within a week.

When he sided with the 13 Milledgeville doctors against State Welfare Director Jack M. Forrester, who was defended by Talmadge, it was the second time in a week that Harris had been critical of Talmadge appointees and administration policies.

Generally regarded as the Governor's chief political adviser, Harris said his criticism did not mean any political split.

"There has just been a little too much coaching from the sidelines going on," he said.

The former legislator said that while things look pretty bad right now at Milledgeville, he didn't think it was anything that could not be straightened out. He added that he and the Governor were "going to talk over the whole thing" today.

News of a telegram Harris sent Talmadge yesterday, declaring that "Forrester will wreck and ruin anything he touches," leaked out from Augusta, and Harris said he did not intend for the telegram to be made public. The Governor had "no comment."

State Senators Find Crisis at Asylum

The State Senate Committee investigating conditions at the Milledgeville Hospital last night made its report to Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin.

The report was signed by Sens. W. R. McCoy, of Folkston; Charles E. Tarver, of Cordele, and Wallace C. Bryant, of Dawson.

The report follows:

"Your Senate Committee created by Senate Resolution No. 47 has made a personal inspection of the existing conditions at the Milledgeville State Hospital and beg to report to you and the Senate the following:

1. That the general reports published by the Georgia Press are true.

2 The Committee finds that the Director in making his choice for a Deputy Director probably made a mistake in choosing one that is not qualified for the position due to the lack of his previous training. We realize that this is a big job and previous training along this line is essential. The lack of this training and knowledge probably brought about the present crisis. We feel it is a mistake to take from the Medical Supervision and Control the following: Graduate nurses, aides and attendants, dietitians, pharmacy, Social Service, patients communications, Occupational and Recreational Therapy, Chaplains and all religious activities. We feel the separation of these departments from the medical supervision is illogical and impractical.

We feel that had the medical staff been a little more patient the present situation could have been prevented.

The committee feels that an administrative department is essential but should be separated entirely from the medical and scientific department.

3. The committee finds that only one social worker is employed at the hospital at present which is far inadequate for the services required, and we recommend that one be employed for each reception center, which would require nine.

The committee further finds that the buildings which have been built in recent years are well kept and sanitary.

The above report does not carry any recommendations on who to hire or fire and we feel that the present Welfare Director is capable of making such adjustments as will bring about harmony."

join in announcing the National Committee for Free Europe, Inc.

WE WILL SEEK TO FURTHER the cause of freedom everywhere—

By supporting those democratic leaders who have escaped to the United States from Communist oppression in Eastern Europe...

By helping these leaders in their stand against Communism... anticipating the day when the Iron Curtain will weaken and fall, and Eastern Europe will be ripe for democratic remaking.

We will assist these leaders:

- to maintain themselves in useful occupations during their enforced stay in the United States;
- to come to know the people of the United States and to understand their spirit and aims;
- to engage in efforts by radio, press and other means to keep alive in their fellow citizens in Europe the ideals of individual and national freedom;
- to establish effective means of cooperation with like-minded European leaders in the United States, and to coordinate their plans with those of similar leaders abroad.

We will encourage these leaders to maintain in this country National Committees which will stand as symbols of democratic hope to their peoples—the peoples of Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia to whom at Yalta in 1945 we promised free elections and the fundamental freedoms.

Arms and economic aid are indispensable but by themselves are not enough. Only in the field of ideas and spiritual values can victory be lasting.

A new operation begins in the American defense and counter-attack against the Communist assault. Money is needed to finance the fight.

We call on all Americans to join us by sending an urgently needed contribution. As the Communists like to remind us: "It is later than you think."

We will have the honor of announcing from time to time additional members of the National Committee for Free Europe, Inc.

Senators Mapping Fight Over Labor Law Repeal

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senate Democrats and Republicans yesterday mapped strategy for a fight to the finish over the Administration's plans to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act.

Taking advantage of a momentary lull in the labor bill battle, the Senate Democratic Policy Committee agreed to keep the Administration measure before the Senate until a vote is reached.

Republican Senators, claiming the whip hand, decided to leave the next move up to the Democrats before moving in with their own program to retain major features of the 1947 labor law.

The Administration decision to force a showdown vote means that the Atlantic Mutual Aid Pact probably will not be called up for ratification for some weeks.

CONGRESS ROUNDUP

The 12-nation treaty was sent to the Senate yesterday by the Foreign Relations Committee with a report describing the pact as the World's best insurance against another war.

"The Committee strongly believes that it would be in the best interests of the United States and indeed, the entire World, to sustain and encourage the momentum of confidence that has been building up in Europe, by ratifying the Treaty at an early date," the Committee said.

Other developments:

ATOMIC—Carleton Shugg, Deputy General Manager of the Atomic Energy Commission, said cryptically that the big Hanford, Wash., atomic works is handling a product which "needs a better name than 'deadly poison'" to describe it. He said later, however, that he was not referring to any mysterious new weapon but to a stage in the production of plutonium, material from which A-bombs are made.

ECONOMY—By a voice vote the Senate approved a $671,782,000 appropriation to finance the State, Justice and Commerce Departments as well as the judiciary during the next fiscal year starting July 1.

This marks the first time this year that the economy advocates have scored in their efforts to reduce Government spending. The measure contains $12,833,000 less than the House voted for these agencies and the total is $68,580,000 below President Truman's budget requests.

UNITED NATIONS—A resolution calling for the development of the United Nations into a world federation capable of enforcing the peace was introduced in Congress yesterday with the backing of more than one-fifth of the House.

Indorsed by 91 of the 435 House members, the measure would, if passed, put Congress on record in favor of a far stronger world organization than at present.

Rep. Judd, Republican, Minnesota, who with Rep. Hays, Democrat, Arkansas, headed a ten-man group in drafting the statement, told a news conference that it "sets a goal."

The simple words of the resolution, as interpreted by its leading sponsors, favor things that have been international dynamite for years.

These include a world police force and a world government armed with the atomic bomb, and unhampered by veto power of its member states.

Gov. Talmadge To Speak at Macon Friday

Gov. Talmadge will address the first general meeting of the Georgia Vocational Association's annual conference at 9:30 a. m. Friday in the Municipal Auditorium at Macon.

Although all general meetings of the conference are scheduled Friday, sectional meetings will be held tomorrow on industrial arts education, home-making education, distributive education, trade and industrial education, agricultural education and vocational education.

Frank C. Underwood, Jr., President of the Association, will preside at general sessions. H. L. Wingate, President of the Georgia Farm Bureau, will address the second general meeting at 2 p. m. Friday, and the closing session at 8 p. m. will be devoted to business.

Others on the program will include Dr. M. D. Mobley, State Director of Vocational Services; Lewis B. Wilson, Mayor of Macon; Dr. Mark Smith, Superintendent of Bibb County Schools; Dr. M. D. Collins, State Superintendent of Schools, and E. L. Williams, President of American Vocational Association.

Kiwanis Talk

BAXLEY—Supt. J. D. Ramsay, of Baxley public schools, reviewing his 20 years in public school administration, told Kiwanians that new methods of instruction have outstripped the training of teachers in Georgia, but the schools have come far in improvements over those existing when he first entered the profession.

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak; worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking INNER-AID and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

INNER-AID contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID. Sold by all drug stores.

Remodeling for Peace--Gen. Clay

WEST POINT, N. Y.—(AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, retired commander of the American Occupation Zone in Germany, yesterday told the U. S. Military Academy graduating class that American military forces are being rebuilt as an instrument for peace.

He said that when World War II ended, America placed its faith in the United Nations as an instrument for peace, hoping that others would do the same.

"We soon found," he said, "that others gave mere lip service to the work of the United Nations and were determined to expand their own political philosophy by every possible device."

A program of economic assistance to worthy nations followed, Clay said, and the United States determined to rebuild "our armed might and to enter into common security arrangements with those of our neighbors who shared our faith in the desires of the people to live as individuals and to live in peace."

Negro Said Beaten At Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(AP)—Chattanooga police said an unidentified Negro boy was reported beaten and kidnapped by five white youths here late Monday night.

Bystanders said the Negro was beaten before he was forced into the car, which they said had Georgia license plates.

The State Highway Patrol and Rossville, Ga., officers were asked to join in the search.

FLY EASTERN

ATLANTA'S PIONEER AIRLINE

47 FLIGHTS DAILY

TO OUR FRIENDS OF ATLANTA:

Eastern Air Lines believes in Atlanta, in Atlanta's growth and the progressive spirit of her people. Our very first flight was made from Atlanta twenty-one years ago.

To us, Atlanta represented a great potential market in air transportation and time has shown this to be true. That's why Eastern is continuing to supply Atlanta with a greater number of flights daily than any airline gives to any city of similar size, in the world.

Rally in Stocks Checks Steady Decline

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market rallied Tuesday after heading point-blank toward a five-year low.

The rally didn't amount to much in terms of price. But many recently hard-pressed stocks emerged with small gains and the market generally stopped just short of what Wall Street considers highly critical price territory.

Trading volume topped 1,000,000 shares, although it failed to measure up to 1,380,000 shares Monday when the market took one of the steepest dives of the year to a two-year low. Turnover amounted to 1,040,000 shares, a better than average figure, but below what brokers would like to see to sustain a decisive advance.

The market got off to a wobbly start. Selling pressure, recently severe, let up later and signs of a rally appeared. Not until late in the day, though, did demand increase at all. In the last few minutes of trade, several issues stumbled, but most stocks ended at their top prices for the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .2 of one point to 59.5. An advance of equal size was made May 25 and May 16, but not exceeded since May 14. Railroad issues easily outdistanced the industrial and utility sections.

Of the 1,029 stocks which appeared on the ticker tape, 402 improved and 344 declined.

The day's news definitely leaned to the unfavorable side.

The Census Bureau reported a rise in unemployment to a new post-war high in the week ended May 14, although total employed in May exceeded May a year ago.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that dollar sales in New York City department stores declined 19 percent from the comparable 1948 week.

Secretary of Treasury Snyder, on the other hand, said the nation's financial and economic situation is "basically sound." It is questionable, however, if Wall Street laid much stress on the Secretary's comments in view of the skeptical treatment given statements on the same subject by other administration spokesmen.

Most brokers looked to forces within the market to explain Tuesday's turnabout.

For one thing, it was pointed out, the market has been under almost relentless pressure for the past three weeks or so, and prices, on the average, have dropped sharply. Bargain hunters, attracted by the lower prices, have been at work.

Again, the market has dropped to an average level which has attracted strong support three times since the end of the war. Many traders figure the market will not break through this level.

For another thing, the short interest as of May 13 was the largest since 1933, according to the latest exchange report. Many financial men claim this huge short position is the market's best cushion and that a rise of any size will start covering purchases snowballing. Some short covering has already been reported from the financial district.

And again, prices have declined so much that many present holders simply refuse to sell. The supply of stock available to the market, in other words, has declined enough to make prices sensitive to only limited demand.

Col. Robinson Is Engineers' Chief Here

Col. Bernard L. Robinson, District Engineer at Galveston, Texas, since 1947, will become Division Engineer at Atlanta for the South Atlantic Division of the Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army, on July 1, Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, Chief of Engineers, announced in Washington yesterday.

He will succeed Col. Mason J. Young, Division Engineer here since December, 1947. Col. Young, who has received an assignment for overseas service, expects to leave for his new job on July 15.

Born in Sioux City, Iowa, in 1901, Col. Robinson entered the Corps of Engineers after his graduation from West Point in 1920. For many years he supervised Federal civil works programs for rivers and harbors improvements and is presently in charge of the $50,000,000 postwar civil works program in the Galveston District. During World War II he rose to the temporary rank of Brigadier General and received two decorations for "outstanding engineering achievements" in the South Pacific theater. At that time, he was in charge of the engineer construction program in New Guinea.

Col. Young, who is retiring in favor of Col. Robinson, has been in charge of the vast Federal rivers and harbors improvement program throughout the Southeast and initiated work on the $200,000,000 South Florida flood control program. He is a native of New Hampshire, but has spent much of his active career in the South.

PRICE INDEX FOR MAY WIPES OUT GAINS MADE BY FARMERS IN APRIL

ATHENS—(AP)—A drop of one point in the all-commodity May 15 index of farm prices put Georgia farmers right back where they were a month previous.

The Georgia Crop Reporting Service said the index dropped from 240 to 239 percent of the 1910-1914 average. This drop wiped out the gain marked up during the previous month.

The report showed noticeable drops in the prices of meat animals, poultry and some dairy products. Hogs were down 40 cents, beef cattle 50 cents and veal calves 90 cents per hundred pounds, compared with April. Eggs were up two cents, but that gain was offset by a drop of four cents per pound in the price of poultry.

The price of wholesale milk continued to skid. The index showed milk at $5.55 per hundred pounds in May as compared with $5.90 in April and $6.10 in March. Butter was down a cent a pound in May and two cents in April.

The new crop of Irish potatoes hitting the market pushed the price down to $1.95 a bushel from the April level of $2.55.

Other prices remained about steady. Those which maintained the April level included corn, wheat, cotton and cottonseed.

SUGAR FUTURES

NEW YORK—(AP)—Domestic sugar futures were easy Tuesday, influenced partly by downward adjustments in some cane refiners' prices, reflecting increased competitive conditions in that market. World sugar futures were steady on short covering. Raw sugar was steady at 5.85 cents a pound delivered. A refiner late Monday bought Philippines and Cubas in forward positions at that price, it was reported. Withdrawals of refined sugar improved with the warmer weather. Domestic sugar futures No. 5 closed unchanged to 2 lower; sales 149 contracts.

Corn Led Grains In Price Upturn

CHICAGO—(AP)—Corn led other grains upward today toward the close of Tuesday's Board of Trade session. Corn receipts were light, and bookings on a to-arrive basis were placed at only 26,000 bushels. The result was a higher cash market which was reflected in futures.

Wheat, which had had difficulty in advancing earlier in the session pushed upward with feed grains. A better cash market at Kansas City was reflected in the late advance.

Deferred soybeans ran into selling on lower edible oil prices, and lard was under selling pressure during the greater part of the session.

A good closing rally carried prices higher, and at the finish wheat was ⅝ to 1⅛ cent higher than the previous close, July $1.87¾-⅝. Corn was 1 cent to 1¼ higher, July $1.30½. Oats were ¾ to 1 cent higher, July 58⅛-¼. Rye was 2 to 2½ cents higher, July $1.34. soybeans were 2 cents higher to 1¼ lower, July $2.15¼-17, and lard was 5 cents a hundredweight higher to 10 cents lower, July $10.80.

N. Y. Cotton Futures Firm and Active

NEW YORK — (AP) — Cotton futures turned firm and active Tuesday, paced by aggressive short covering in near-by July futures, which met only scale-up offerings. The technically strong situation in near-by July contracts was attributed by traders directly to operation of the Government loan which has created a tight situation in free market supplies of spot cotton. The Government is estimated to hold in the loan well above half of the total supply of cotton remaining until the new 1949 crop becomes available.

A very favorable Government weekly weather report was ignored as new crop futures moved up in sympathy with the July delivery. Final prices were 95 cents to $1.75 a bale higher. On the upturn a leading spot firm which is heavily long in July futures sold about 18,000 bales of those contracts.

N. O. Cotton Closes Up $1.10 to $1.85 a Bale

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced here Tuesday on heavy short covering and moderate trade buying. Closing prices were very steady $1.10 to $1.85 a bale higher.

Trading was active and the July position was the strongest month on the board. The buying in the spot month was attributed to shorts who were said to be uneasy over the further shrinkage in the certificated stock.

Leading spot interests filled the July demand. Certificated stocks at all delivery points had increased nearly 10,000 bales during the past week, and now amount to 28,515 bales.

The Government's weekly crop summary was considered favorable. But it had very little effect on values.

HIT BY EMPLOYMENT SLUMP

Summer Jobs Vanish Under Eyes of Youths

Youths coming out of college and high school were confronted by a circumstance new and strange to them this Summer. Those Summertime jobs aren't there. Not in anything like the numbers of other Summers since the war.

Swollen by the youths (unemployment in May reached a new postwar high of 3,289,000. That was 68,000 above the previous top set in February. Normally, unemployment declines in May.

The number unemployed was 270,000 larger than in April, even though the number with jobs increased 875,000 in the month. Last May, the number of jobless was only 1,761,000.

Employment in May of this year was higher than in May of last year, even though unemployment was at a peak. The number in jobs in May this year, 58,694,000, compared with 58,650,000 the previous May, and 57,794,000 in April.

The civilian labor force totaled 61,983,000 persons in May compared with 60,835,000 in April and 60,422,000 in May, 1948.

Farm jobs were mainly responsible for holding employment up to its present level. The number of farm jobs rose by 1,154,000 from April to May. In the same period, non-farm jobs dropped 279,000, almost identical with the increase in unemployment.

Statistics on full-time jobs, those of 35 hours or more weekly, showed a gain from April to May, but a decline compared with last May. However, special studies showed 1,500,000 persons with normally full-time jobs were working short hours—three or four days—during the week of May 14, due to slack work, material shortages, job turnover, and similar factors.

The Census Bureau counted as employed those who had jobs even though they were on vacations, on strikes, or temporarily laid off for less than 30 days.

PEOPLE IN BUSINESS

S. D. Stainton Gets New York Express Post

Samuel D. Stainton, formerly of Atlanta, has been appointed General Manager of the New York City Department of the Railway Express Agency, it was announced yesterday by W. M. Smith, Vice-President. He succeeds J. F. Ross, named Assistant to President A. L. Hammell.

S. D. Stainton

Stainton is a native of Mississippi and entered express work there. He served in a number of positions throughout the South, including a period as agent at Macon, before coming to Atlanta in 1936 to be Superintendent of the Georgia Division, then Superintendent of Organization. He was named Superintendent of Organization at New York in 1947.

Fischer Resigns

Frank J. Fischer, General Manager of Dad's Root Beer Bottling Company, announced yesterday he is resigning because of ill health. He said he will be succeeded by Milton Klug, of Chicago. Klug is a graduate of Northwestern University. His wife and two children will accompany him to Atlanta. W. E. Vonderau will continue as Sales Manager, and George Tutt as bottler for the concern's Atlanta plant, which serves 26 counties as distributor both for Dad's Root Beer and Bireley's flavors.

L&N Names Bisha

Raymond E. Bisha has been appointed to the newly-created position of General Industrial Agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, effective yesterday. With headquarters in Louisville, he will have jurisdiction over industrial development activities.

Bisha, a native of Illinois, joined the railroad in 1929, became industrial agent in 1941. He was with the Army's Transportation Corps during World War II. He returned to his position after the war and makes his home in Louisville.

Watkins Named Manager

Sam R. Watkins, native of Atlanta, has been appointed Cleveland District Sales Manager with the Brake Shoe and Castings Division of American Brake Shoe Company, it was announced yesterday by Maurice N. Trainer, Division President. A 1939 Yale graduate, he joined the company as an apprentice, returned to it after service in the war, in which he received the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Presidential Unit Citation and the Belgian Croix de Guerre.

Directors Elected

Stan W. Alford and Tom Asbury, of Atlanta, have been elected District Directors of National Sales Executives, Inc., New York. The organization has 10,000 members in affiliated clubs overseeing the work of 2,000,000 salesmen. Alford is District Manager of Iron Fireman, Inc. Asbury is with the Wofford Oil Company.

Bond Drive Hits Half-Way Mark

Georgia has passed the half-way mark in sales of "E" bonds during the Opportunity Loan Campaign, the Savings Bond Division of the Treasury Department announced yesterday.

Quota for Georgia during this campaign is $11,460,000 and sales at the end of May 27 were $5,809,826, or 50.7 percent of the quota. Sales in Georgia from May 21 to May 27 were $392,345. Thirteen Counties ha already exceeded their quotas.

Sales for Fulton County now amount to $2,197,097, or 52.7 percent of the quota of $3,840,000.

The Opportunity Loan Campaign will continue through July 16. The national quota is $1,040,000,000. Sales throughout the Nation now amount to $551,200,000, or 53 percent of the quota.

SALES, SERVICE SPACE DOUBLED

Wyeth, Inc., Branch Moves to Walker Street

Wyeth, Inc., has doubled space of its Atlanta branch sales and service facilities in the Southeast by removal to a building at 210 Walker St., S. W., it was announced yesterday by Claude Peek, branch manager.

Steady increase in the company's Southeastern business prompted the manufacturer of pharmaceutical, biological and nutritional products to make the move from its former headquarters at 825 Spring St., Peek said.

Claude Peek

L. B. Hardy, Jr., is divisional sales manager heading a sales corps in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Western North Carolina, Eastern Tennessee, and Western Virginia.

The divisional sales office and warehouse will be housed at the new address along with customers' account records, which will be transferred from Philadelphia. Into 23,000 square feet additional floor space with air conditioned offices, roller conveyors will move stock 90 percent faster, Peeks said. Over-all operation capacity will be increased 35 percent.

The branch will employ 19 office staff members, nine warehouse employees.

Goodrich Shows New Line of Toys

A toy horse that can take its child rider for a gentle canter across the room is a feature of the annual B. F. Goodrich Company toy show at the Piedmont Hotel.

Next Christmas' goods were put on display. There were superstreamlined electric trains, an egg-laying toy duck, scores of other playthings for the youngsters.

EAL Applies For Route Extension

Eastern Air Lines yesterday applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board, in Washington, for an extension of its present routes and the establishment of new routes to 19 cities in Central and South America and in the West Indies and the Caribbean areas. Atlanta is one of 87 important cities in the United States which would be linked up on these routes.

New routes sought are:

From Miami and Tampa to Havana and then to Kingston, Jamaica; Barranvilla, Colombia; Balboa, Canal Zone, and Bogata, Colombia.

From Miami and Tampa to Havana, Merida, Yucatan, Guatemala City, San Salvador, Tegucigalpa, Managua, San Jose, Balboa and Bogota.

From Miami and Tampa to Nassau, Port au Prince, Ciudad Trujillo, San Juan, Maracaibo, Aruba, Curacao and Caracas.

From Boston, New York and Washington by direct route to San Juan, Ciudad Trujillo, Port au Prince, Aruba, Curacoa, Caracas, Maracaibo, Barranquilla, Balboa and Bogota.

From New Orleans to Merida, Guatemala City, San Salvador, Tegucigalpa, Managua, San Jose, Balboa and Bogota.

GE Cuts Prices On 7 TV Sets

NEW YORK—(AP)—Price reductions ranging from $20 to $100 were announced yesterday by the General Electric Company for seven of its television sets.

The table model set with mahogany cabinet and viewing tube 10 inches in diameter was cut $20 to $259.95, a 12-inch table model was reduced $40 to $329.95 and a 12-inch combination with standard and frequency modulation radio and three-speed record changer was marked down $100 to $499.95. Four other models were reduced in proportion.

The company's lowest priced set, a 10-inch plastic table model, was left unchanged at $239.95.

The reductions were in line with the current trend toward lower prices for television sets.

Dime-Store Sales See Ups, Downs

Three "dime stores" companies yesterday reported decreased sales for May compared with the same month in 1948, but two of them reported increases for the first five months of the year.

F. W. Woolworth Company reported May sales of $44,517,959, a decrease of 5.5 percent, and a five-month total of $221,568,288, a decrease of 1.1 percent.

McCrory reported May sales of $7,176,075, down 1.4 percent; five months sales of $34,905,879, up 1.2 percent.

W. T. Grant Company reported May sales at $17,982,476, down 3.8 percent; five months total $80,211,046, up 1 percent.

Ga. Power, AFL Report Progress

Georgia Power Company and AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers officials yesterday reported "favorable progress" in negotiations involving approximately 3,000 electrical employees in the State.

The bargaining sessions, which were halted by the Atlanta transit strike, were resumed Monday. The Company-Union contract expired March 1 but was extended by mutual agreement.

Arnold G. Kennedy, business manager of Atlanta's Local 84, said "No controversy has come up." He said the Union is seeking wage increases and "other improvements in our contract."

G. B. McManus, President of the Georgia Power Company, also said the negotiations were progressing.

Broadcasters Form Association

Atlanta women broadcasters are out to convince the business world it takes a woman to sell women and keep them sold.

They've formed the Atlanta Women Broadcasters' Association and assembled a program for circularizing business men with their message. Points: Women commentators have a ready-made audience waiting for news of women and informative, factual shopping tips; women do 90 percent of buying of consumer goods.

Open to other women broadcasters of Atlanta area, the Association was founded by Ruth Kent, of WGLS; Alice Bell, of WERD; Charlotte Fortune, of WQXI, and Maggie Davis, of WCON.

Compromise at Milledgeville

Out of a compromise plan offered yesterday by State Welfare Director Jack Forrester may come a settlement of the Milledgeville State Hospital squabble.

We hope, for the good of the patients and for the sake of Georgia's good name, that happens.

We note, happily, that Mr. Forrester's new plan of operation for the Hospital eliminates a major cause of the physicians' objections to the policies of Thomas A. Dechman. The compromise formula provides for two distinct divisions, one for administrative services and the other for medical services. The physicians properly will have charge of nurses, all types of therapy, social service and "everything in connection with medicine."

That is a considerable departure from the course taken by Mr. Dechman, who apparently entered the Hospital with a bull-in-a-china-shop philosophy. One of his first acts was to remove the nurses from jurisdiction of the doctors. We repeat our observation of yesterday that had Mr. Dechman approached the Milledgeville task with tact and diplomacy he could have accomplished the desired ends of efficiency and more adequate care without the furor that has arisen.

Gov. Talmadge's charge that "waste, graft, corruption and inefficiency" have been tolerated at the Hospital certainly needs a closer examination. There have been rumors, recurrent from time to time, that a small political clique was in virtual control of the Hospital. That, too, needs investigation and a public airing. We think the people of Georgia are entitled to know if graft and corruption actually existed, or still exist.

If Mr. Forrester and Mr. Dechman can, as Gov. Talmadge says, save a half million dollars annually in operation costs, then by all means let them do so. The people certainly have no objections to reforms, but they also dislike dictatorial methods such as Mr. Dechman was charged with initiating at Milledgeville. There is such a thing as combining efficiency and high standards with democratic tactics.

The immediate need is to restore normal operations at Milledgeville and insure fair and just treatment for all those involved in the dispute. We hope the Welfare Board will attend to this at today's meeting.

Atlanta---Trade Center of the Southeast

The time well may come when retailers in the Southeast will send buyers to Atlanta, instead of New York or Chicago, to purchase new merchandise.

Emphasizing that prospect is the Southeastern Travelers Exhibitors' showing of Fall clothing and allied lines now in progress at the Municipal Auditorium.

Several hundred manufacturers are showing their new fashions and novelties to about 3,000 buyers.

Success of the show, already assured, will doubtless bring a growing number of similar exhibitions here in recognition of Atlanta's increasing importance as the trade center of the entire region.

Go After the Tax Dodgers!

The record of individual State income tax returns filed by Georgians, as revealed in The Constitution Monday, is a sorry one indeed.

Less than 200,000 Georgians filed income tax returns last year. According to reliable estimates, this number should have been between 500,000 and 600,000. About 250,000 have filed returns this year.

That means at least 50 percent of the potential income taxpayers are evading their obligations to the State.

From the county-by-county record compiled by The Constitution staff, the greatest evasion ratio is in the less densely populated counties. And yet, these are the ones that are calling loudest for more State services, better roads and more adequate schools.

It is perhaps unfair to single out any one county. In doing so we are using that county as an example of what is common to most, and not as an object of particular blame.

But the record is bad. There is Appling County, which recently recessed its schools for lack of funds. Only 166 persons in Appling filed State income tax returns. But 1,560 bought automobile tags.

Going down the list at random you find in Dawson County 704 automobiles and 12 State income tax returns. Fannin filed 178 tax returns. But 2,030 own automobiles. Toombs, with 2,090 automobiles, had 333 income taxpayers.

In the larger counties the record is better. That is partly because of the higher incomes in cities. But the number of taxpayers is disproportionately high. In Fulton, for example, 88,900 bought automobile tags and 63,963 filed tax returns. In Chatham half the 26,000 automobile owners filed returns. In Bibb there were 8,248 returns and 19,248 automobile owners. Muscogee had 7,826 returns and 18,267 car owners. Richmond had 7,180 returns out of 17,536 automobiles.

Thus, in larger counties the ratio of income tax returns to automobiles ranges from about 42 to 70 percent. In the smaller counties the percentage ratio runs from less than 5 to about 30 percent.

That is an unreasonable differential. It points to the fact that the greatest evasion is in the smaller counties.

We are delighted that the Revenue Department is going after tax dodgers. Let's collect the taxes that are due under present laws before we start thinking about new taxes.

Fielding Dillard, State income tax director, estimates that with 12 additional agents, costing $36,000 annually in salaries, he can increase collections by at least $1,500,000. We don't know of a better investment.

M. L. ST. JOHN

No, He's Not Like 'Old Gene'

Gov. Herman Talmadge is different from the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge. Some folks say that in criticism of his lack of color and lack of leadership. Some say it in praise of the son's more broadminded views and lack of dictatorship. We thought of this when the young Governor went to the all-Negro Log Cabin Community in Greene County the other day. Did you read what he said? "The white race can't live and prosper in Georgia or the nation at the penalty of the Negro race, nor can the black race prosper at the expense of the white. The Negro problem in Georgia and the nation is mostly an economic one, and it can be solved by both races progressing together."

That was a fine statement for a Governor of Georgia to make. But one can hardly imagine the late Gene Talmadge approaching the race question with such a calm view. The utterance is more in keeping with statements made by Talmadge's liberal opponent, former Gov. Arnall. Following his talk, the younger Gov. Talmadge toured the large community of Negro farmers and, we are sure, congratulated them upon their self-reliance and economic progress.

While the present Governor blasted "bloc voting" and, at times dropped into crude criticisms of his opponents, his 1948 campaign never did reach the racial intolerance depths of the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge's blasts at "niggers." We recall when Candidate Herman Talmadge was speaking at Fort Valley last year he took the edge off of an inflammatory introduction given him. The preceding speaker attempted to stir racial prejudices to a fever pitch. Talmadge cooled this off, and expressed appreciation to a half dozen Negroes standing in the audience for coming out to hear him.

When a Negro citizen was lynched in Toombs County, persons from other states undoubtedly expected Gov. Talmadge to defend this action. Toombs County is one of the strongest Talmadge counties in the State. To the contrary, Gov. Talmadge offered a reward for the arrest of members of the mob, provided police protection for the widow, and took a personal interest in working with the Georgia Bureau of Investigation to try to solve the case. He granted an audience to an Ohio publicity-seeker whom the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge probably would have sent harshly on his way—but the younger Talmadge's polite actions stole the publicity scene from Mr. Goldwasser.

When a Negro citizen was lynched in Wilkinson County, another strong Talmadge County, Gov. Talmadge sent the GBI in to make arrests, and stood ready to offer rewards.

The Governor—who, unfortunately has not yet seen fit to criticize the Klan along with the Communists—is to be commended for taking the time to encourage Negro agriculture and for calling upon Georgians of all races to progress together.

GEORGIA NEEDS more legislators like Rep. John S. Hood, Jr. The youthful Hood, one of Chatham's three Representatives, is not a member of the State Tax Revision Committee. But he has been attending the sessions of the Committee, at his own expense. Hood said he is particularly interested in the school problem, and he figures he can learn more about how to solve problems if he hears testimony at the Committee sessions. Hood's action is similar to that of Secretary of State Ben Fortson, who, while a member of the House, attended the sessions of the Constitution Revision Committee although he was not a member of that group.

Grandpa Worried, Too

Some Americans fret in cities the way a nostalgic monkey abhors his cage.

One of the things every person ought to do is to try and understand, be able to rationalize, what has happened and is happening.

James Russell Lowell, speaking of the people who came to this country, said of them that they sought a new continent and found a new condition of mind.

That's perfectly true.

We came to this country as European immigrants — from England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Germany, France, Spain. . . .

We were Europeans. We faced something we had never seen before. We had no experience for it. Our first colonies starved, with enough game and fish within walking distance to keep them well. Our first farmers, used to husbanding a few European acres, developed the restless habit, faced with seemingly inexhaustible acres, of mining the land and moving on.

Change The corn we ate and the life we led began to change our face bones. Go look at the old suits of armor in European museums and see how small our ancestors were. The corn changed our faces. The air, the work, the food, the life changed our bodies.

The mind was changing, too.

Europeans had been milking cows for centuries.

Americans invented the milking machine. Europeans had eaten eggs since the first recorded egg. Americans invented egg beaters. Apple peelers, corers, butter molds, and other gadgets appeared as the Europeans and their sons learned to tinker, to whittle, to improvise new tools and methods.

Our thinking, and our attitudes, of necessity had to change.

The saddest and the most lost persons are those who keep thinking backward and trying to imagine that America was changeless until about the time in their own lives when they left home to go out into the world. What they childishly refuse to see is that until they did get out they had been so secure, protected by papa and mama, they didn't really know anything about their own country. It is a hard fact many of them never learned anything, but kept wistfully wishing for the sturdy old days when Grandpa, if they only knew it, was worried and frustrated, too.

Pattern Actually there was a time of change. The original American pattern, always changing, began to accelerate that change along about 1890.

In 1860 only a sixth of the Americans lived in towns of 8,000 or more population.

By 1900 a third of all our people were living in towns of that size.

Today well over half of all the American people live in cities.

In fact—and this, to me, at least, is a significant and provocative fact—about 60 percent of the total population of America is in cities occupying less than three percent of all the U. S. land area.

Effect With almost 80,000,000 persons living on less than three percent of all our land area, and with that condition enlarging as our new machinery takes more and more people off the land, the effect of city growth has never been quite comprehended.

Too many of our politicians keep making campaigns in which they promise to restore the old-time balances.

They won't. They are getting us into trouble with too many promises.

Not many of our people ever heard of the Populist Party and the desperate, bloody, violent farmer revolution—which failed—in the last years of the nineteenth century.

But it was this revolt, in which farmers attacked the growing power of the business and financial interests concentrated in cities, which caused the Government to intercede in behalf of farmers and set up the parity system—with the results of today, some fantastic.

Cities In the cities the cramped living quarters, the slums, the opportunity for crime, the uncertainty of employment, the growing social problems caused by poverty, disease and crime, all joined to cast grave doubt on the democracy which went along on the laws of nature, so to speak. Herbert Hoover's name became a hissing because his talk of rugged individualism angered the people of the great depression who began to think of individualism in terms of the privileged and the wealthy.

So, concepts and the state of mind changed. If today you do not think the average American believes it the duty of Government to protect the rights of all, then you have not looked around. The depression made it an accepted state of mind that the Government must create work and wages when private business cannot.

That is where we are today.

The American is, by nature, an individualist.

Yet, the proponents of a paternalistic form of Government are urging and teaching that individualism is wrong and unworkable.

The American dilemma today is how to preserve the spirit of self-reliance and free competition, and at the same time protect and expand the rights of the citizens to opportunity, health, housing and work.

Change continues. We need more political leadership to understand and interpret the change so that it may be directed, not exploited and left rudderless.

BILLY ROSE

An Audience With The Pope

On the morning of our fourth day in Rome, Eleanor and I had a private audience with Pope Pius XII at the Vatican, and, at the tail-end of our interview, I told His Holiness a little joke.

Before I repeat the joke—and don't worry, it was innocent enough—let me lead off with the circumstances which led up to it. . . .

The day before we got to Rome the missus and I had climbed the Acropolis in Athens, made pop-eyes at the Parthenon and even inspected the cave where Socrates had been given a mickey. After dinner we had planed out of Athens, reached Rome around midnight, and the following morning when our traveling alarm clock went off, Eleanor refused to get out of the big brass bed at the Excelsior.

"I've finally found out who you are," she said. "You're a secret agent for the Tip-Toe Shoe Company. For three months now we've been tramping through galleries, ruins, mosques and museums and it's gotten to the point where I've looked so much that I can no longer see. From here in, laddie-buck, I'm on a lay-down strike."

"I get it," I said. "Walkers of the World, Unite."

"Precisely," said Eleanor.

Well, as often happens, my wife had a point and I was stuck with it. From the time we had hit Rio the last sip of coffee in the morning was the starter's gun, and our days had been crammed with Rodins, Rembrandts, cloisters, carvings and cassoons. And, judging by the other tourists, this was standard procedure—apparently there's nothing like a little blue water to turn a normal Ned into a lore-bore. . . .

Waiting The morning of our audience with His Holiness we drove to the Vatican with an ERP official and his wife, and the four of us were ushered into the outermost anteroom of this fabulous city-within-a-city. There, after several minutes, two Swiss guards conducted us to another waiting room. And, for the next hour, in easy stages, we were advanced from one waiting room to the next, each more impressive than the last, and each containing more important paintings and statuary.

Finally we were escorted into the presence of the Pope, who welcomed us cordially and cupped his ear as the ERP man asked him a rather complicated question about the spiritual overtones of the Marshall Plan. His Holiness patiently answered in adequate enough English and, as the American official posed his next question.

Finally, the Pope turned to me, and I could see that the involved questioning had been something of a strain. "How long do you plan to stay in Rome?" he asked.

"Your Holiness," I said, "your question reminds me of a little story I heard the other day."

Story The heads of the Swiss guards swiveled as if they were at a tennis match. They had no idea what kind of story I was going to tell and were naturally apprehensive.

"What was the story?" asked the Pope with a friendly smile.

"Well, as I heard it," I said, "Your Holiness recently granted an audience to three gentlemen from London and you asked the first man how long he intended to stay tin Rome.

"'A week,' was his reply.

"'Splendid,' you said. 'Rome is a beautiful city and you will undoubtedly get to see all of it.'

"The second man told you he was going to stay a month.

"'Very good,' you said. 'I'm sure you'll get to see most of the things worth seeing.'

"The third gentleman told you he had fallen in love with Rome and intended to live there the rest of his life.

"'That's unfortunate,' you said. 'I'm afraid YOU'LL never see Rome at all . . .'"

The Pope laughed, and his laughter made me feel good because I sensed that my tiny joke had eased the tension of our interview. A minute later he presented each of us with a small silver medallion and then went on to the next room where another group was waiting.

The secretary in charge of appointments showed us out.

"I hope I wasn't too informal," I said.

"Indeed you were," smiled the secretary, "but His Holiness seemed to enjoy it. I've been in the Vatican for many years, and this is the first time I've ever heard anyone tell him a joke."

'I'm Bending Over—'

THOMAS L. STOKES

Home Rule for the Capital

WASHINGTON—Once every few years we residents of the national capital, husband and wife hand-in-hand, have betaken ourselves to voting booths set up in public schools and cast our votes. We took it very seriously because it was a rare privilege. The question on which we always voted would amaze citizens anywhere else in our nation in this day and age. We voted, in short, on whether we should be allowed to vote and have a voice in our affairs. In those plebiscites, as they were called, we always voted overwhelmingly in favor of a regularly elected city government for our national capital instead of having our city governed by Congress like a colonial possession, as it has been since 1878.

Each time we proudly scanned the "returns." But nothing ever happened. Congress filed our plebiscite away and forgot it.

Finally, however, the Senate has passed a bill to give us "home rule" as a result of constant demand from our people and our newspapers. The measure provides a City Council with 11 members—nine elected, two appointed by the President—which, in turn, is authorized to appoint a City Manager for the District of Columbia. We also would elect a school board of seven members.

The City Council would have power to promulgate the usual city ordinances. It also would legislate for the District of Columbia, which Congress hitherto has done. Since this is a Federal city, Congress is given in the bill a limited veto over such legislative acts, its disapproval requiring a concurrent resolution by House and Senate within 45 days of the City Council's action. Also since this is a Federal city with many Federal establishments to maintain, the Federal Government under the bill would share in its upkeep by contributing 20 cents for every dollar of taxes from local residents. In recent years Congress has appropriated a lump sum as its share in upkeep, which has varied from time to time.

Our "home rule" bill still must be approved by the House—in the first instance by its District of Columbia Committee, of which the Chairman is Rep. John L. McMillan, Democrat, South Carolina. There is some disposition in that Committee and in the House to hold up the bill, and for that public pressure from other parts of the country would be helpful to give our national capital this basic civil right.

That the overwhelming majority of people in our country generally favor democracy for our Federal city has been demonstrated in nation-wide polls. Those reflect the pride in our capital, which was well expressed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, Democrat, Tennessee, who directed the measure successfully through the Senate.

"We who are citizens of the States—citizens of the United States—like to think of Washington, the nation's capital, as the center of world democracy," he said. "It is the capital of the democratic world. The free people of the world now look to the United States and to Washington, its capital city, for moral as well as material support in these trying times."

He pointed out that it now has almost a million inhabitants, a population greater than 14 of our States and paying more income tax than 37 States. Its literacy is the highest of any part of the country.

"We are constantly talking about the right of free peoples to have a say in their own affairs, and yet, insofar as I know, this is the only great city in the democratic world where people do not have suffrage," the Tennessee Senator declared.

Suffrage and home rule for the District of Columbia have been blocked previously largely by Southerners in Congress because of the large Negro population here. But this traditional opposition disintegrated in the Senate this year and largely through Southern leadership.

Most persuasive with them, perhaps, was one of their own, Sen. Spessard L. Holland, Democrat, Florida, former Governor of his State, who pointed out that Negroes vote in Florida and that in Richmond, Va., the capital of the Confederacy, a Negro recently was elected to the City Council. He argued further that Southerners would be in a stronger position in opposing major civil rights measures in President Truman's program if they acquiesced in this basic civil right for the national capital.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters on either side of any subject. They should not exceed 200 words and must be signed although names will be withheld on request. We regret none can be returned. Address all letters to Editor Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Retailer's Reply

Editor Constitution: Your editorial Monday captioned "Why the Protest," which sets forth your lack of sympathy for retailers who are protesting the encroachment of the Army, Navy and Air Force Post Exchanges and ships' stores into the field of private enterprise, misleadingly misses the point of the whole protest.

The complaint of the small merchant is not because the service stores stock a tremendous assortment of merchandise which is sold to servicemen and their families at prices less, in many instances, than the merchant can purchase at wholesale from his suppliers, but because these stores sell indiscriminately to civilians who have no "present" connection with the service whatsoever, thus engendering unfair competition between the merchant and the vast buying power of the United States.

This is certainly most unfair to the spunk of private enterprise under our American system. The alleged protests are being directed at this practice, not at the sale to service or civilian personnel who may be entitled to such vast savings because of their military or employment connection as civilians with the Army, Navy or Air Force.

I think you will agree that our Government does not have the right to compete for the business of the general public by underselling its loyal businessmen citizens and taxpayers.

Atlanta RICHARD K. EXTON.

Editor's Note: We agree emphatically that service store sales should be restricted to authorized personnel. Contrary to Reader Exton's information, however, there has been vigorous protest against sales to servicemen, excepting toothpaste, soap and other such day-to-day necessities.

Birch Trees in Geogia?

Editor Constitution: I wonder if some Georgia botanist or tree-ologist could tell me if the birch tree is known to be common in this State?

Four miles northeast of Waycross, on the south bank of the Satilla River are four large yellow or red birch trees and about 50 smaller ones scattered around on some half acre on the bank of the river. I was astounded to find these birch trees in South Georgia, near the Florida line, as I have previously understood the habitat of the birch tree was on high mountains in Northern West Virginia and Pennsylvania to within the Arctic Circle—at least 1,000 miles north of South Georgia.

I am sure of the identity of this tree, as I live in New Hampshire, where all four types—red, white, gray and black birch—are found on my farm. The red and white birch is a very fine type of wood, of which furniture and finest veneers are made. The gray and black birch good only for firewood. These trees are common in Northern New York and in New England, and I am told stunted birch is found high up within the Arctic Circle. I cannot understand its appearance in a hot climate.

ORMAN T. HEADLEY,
Minister, William Chapel Church, Waycross.

Editor Constitution: Permit me as an humble trustee of Young Harris College to thank you and your great paper sincerely for the recent splendid publicity you gave this dear old college which has done so much for Georgia.

Why Ignore It?

Editor Constitution: I, being a resident of the Old South for the past several years, having migrated from the North. For this I've been called a damned Yankee, even though I feel that there is no such a thing as a Mason and Dixon Line.

May the 30th of each year is proclaimed by the President of the United States as a day to give reverence to all those who gave their lives that these 48 United States could have peace and freedom. There are many of the South who feel that their Confederate Memorial Day should not be taken from them. I agree with them in this respect. But why in heaven do the Southerners persist in ignoring such a sacred day as May 30? Their places of business are open to the public, Old Glory cannot be seen flying from the poles of liberty and freedom. Can it be that these Southerners have forgotten that their sons fought and died for these 48 States?

When Confederate Memorial Day again comes, let's give reverence to the boys of the Gray. Also, when May 30 rolls around let's close our places of business, unfurl Old Glory so it may spread the symbol of freedom over each and every one of these 48 United States.

Atlanta. FRED H. JANKINS.

Shrine of the Confederacy

BILOXI, Miss.—Dreaming by the Gulf side, shaded from the sun by giant oaks, lies Beauvoir, first of the great Summer homes built by the planter gentry along the Gulf and last home of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy. Of the thousands who whiz by on the main highway which separates Beauvoir from the water, few note the sign that invites them in to visit the Confederate shrine, or note the Stars and Bars that wave beside the Stars and Stripes from tall poles on the lawn. The few that do find themselves transported into another day, and into the last sad years of a brave and tragic man. Here are the rooms as he left them, his books about, the family pictures that he cherished still on the walls.

There is the library where he sat as he wrote, in painful longhand, the mammoth four-volume work that occupied his later days—the Rise and Fall of the Southern Confederacy. There are the clothes he wore, the canes he carried, all the little intimate things that a man gathers about him in a lifetime. There are the pictures of him, as a young Lieutenant in the Mexican War, as Senator, as Secretary of War—a proud and confident and handsome man, little resembling the hollow-eyed portraits of the gaunt, ghost-ridden man who came to this serene and spacious house to die.

Life, which had buffeted him with so many cruel disappointments, was even to deny him that last wish. He left Beauvoir in December of 1889 to visit his old plantation home at Briefield. On that journey he died. When he came back to Beauvoir, it was not to stay, the train bearing his body stopped there only briefly en route to Richmond for burial and the Biloxi legend is that folk who had known him, and had known his love for his last home, asked that the dust which gathered on his coffin at the short Biloxi stop be allowed to remain, so that there would be buried with him at least a little of the land he loved.

Much of the life he lived, and the harrassments he suffered is revealed in the letters and documents on display at Beauvoir. On display are the reward notices that were posted about the South when the great hunt for him was on after the Confederacy's fall—one of them, signed by the Commandant of Federal troops at Athens, Ga., accusing him of being an accomplice in the murder of President Lincoln. Another urged the manhunt on by offering to his captors not only a $200,000 reward, but "all the treasure he is believed to have with him in his flight, amounting to millions in specie."

The picture the posters paint of Jefferson Davis bears little resemblance to the man who lived out his declining years at Beauvoir, slowly enscribing his memoirs of a lost crusade. There is, instead, a little note that is far more revealing of his character. It was written to the rector of the Church of the Redeemer, in Biloxi, where in his last years he worshipped and in which he was a vestryman.

"Enclosed," he wrote, "I send a contribution, a small sum which you must regard not as the measure of my will but of my ability. To you is made the confession that circumstances have made me poorer than an average fisherman but other demands are here subordinate to the cause of Him who died for the redemption of fallen man."

Beauvoir was for many years a home for the veterans who followed Davis, but now all these are gone. The beautiful old house was once sought by a purchaser who offered $90,000 for it, hoping to convert it into a hotel. Mrs. Davis, though pressed for cash, refused, and later sold the home for a much smaller sum to the Sons of Confederate veterans, who now maintain it. The museum below stairs is slowly becoming a historical shrine for the preservation of relics from throughout the Confederacy, and casual visitors of Southern blood sometimes are startled to see, preserved in a glass case, pictures of some of their own ancestors who wore the Gray.

CLAYTON RAND

Rich As Croesus

All the gold mined in the world since Columbus discovered America, according to the U. S. News and World Report, is worth $40 billion. Beginning July 1, 1949, the Federal Government plans to spend in one year $45 billion, an amount in excess of all the gold produced on earth in 456 years.

In an emergency in 1933, the United States abandoned the gold standard, and citizens were forced to surrender their gold which was buried underground at Fort Knox. The value of our currency is now based on public confidence. Nothing would strengthen confidence like scattering a little of our hoarded gold among the people. At least our keepsake coins that we sacrificed in the crisis of 1933 could be returned to us.

Of $39 billion of monetary gold in the world, the United States owns $24 billion. For national security reasons it might be safer to let the people bury a little of their gold here and there than to concentrate it in one stockpile. Croesus once made that mistake. This Lydian King cornered the gold of Asia Minor and buried it at Sardis. Cyrus the Great, who coveted the treasure, stormed Sardis and sacked the gold.

Though no earthquake might ever swallow Fort Knox nor atomic bomb make the gold radioactive it is a constant temptation to Russia. And the way these Communists get around, some of them may already be boring in, underground.

SENATOR SOAPER

A Few Remarks for the Record

THOUGH it has been years since she last graced the silver screen, one can hardly forget Garbo. She was the one with a private life.

A FATHER of six who has tried on sundry occasions to voice a few remarks at the dinner table tells us this thing of jamming the wave length is not confined to radio.

"THE MILK produced annually in the U. S. would make a 3,000-mile river 40 feet wide and three feet deep"—Something to keep in mind in case of another PWA made-work program.

FRED OTHMAN

Let HIM Risk the Hangman's Noose

WASHINGTON—Now I've got a Congressman trying to euchre me into hanging by the neck until dead. Or at least spending the next 10 years of my life in the Federal clink. The gentleman can go fly a kite. He also can sit on an atomic pile. I've got a tender neck. He can dare somebody else. I'm not telling anybody the name of the mysterious Mr. A. Not since I looked up the law, I'm not.

What brought up this painful situation was Congress' long-distance inquiry into Dave Lilienthal's management of the atom-bomb business. And there was Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa telling about Mr. A.

This alphabetical character, it turned out, wanted a job with the atomeers. The FBI sent out the G-Men, who turned up 50 single-spaced pages of reasons why he shouldn't be a bomb maker.

Lilienthal and Company looked over the evidence, decided he was a loyal citizen and put him to work. And, demanded Sen. Hickenlooper, what happened?

Before he got a chance to answer himself, Lilienthal interrupted to say he ought to be doggone careful about identifying Mr. A. because if he did, Mr. A. deserved the right to defend himself. The Senator snapped back that he wasn't identifying anybody.

In the next breath he said that Mr. A. was the fellow who wrote up the Atomic Energy Commission's latest quarterly report, which he called one of the hottest, top-secret documents ever produced by this Government.

"See!" cried Lilienthal, meaning that now everybody knew who Mr. A. was. That brought on some of the most complicated palaver by the lawgivers that I ever heard. Then Rep. Henry M. Jackson, the Democratic Congressman from Everett, Wash., who has designs on my neck, made his challenging remark.

He said he had to agree with Lilienthal. Mr. A. now was identified. It wouldn't take a newspaperman long to discover his name and print it and if he didn't then the newspaper business was slipping. Haw. The gentleman was talking through his Geiger counter.

It seemed to be no trick to learn the name of Mr. A. Just a case of asking the handiest expert. So there I had a first-class, Grade A news story. So did numerous other reporters, who'd been scribbling notes furiously all day. Only they didn't jump to their telephones. Just sat there, slothfully. And glared at Rep. Jackson.

They were scared to report the name of Mr. A. Having looked up the law myself I must report that I, too, feel timid. Seems that the authors of secret documents also are secret. Anybody who spills a secret and thereby gives comfort to the enemy is subject to being executed.

You hear that, Rep. Jackson? Killed, stone cold dead. And if the fellow who revealed the secret somehow managed not to comfort the opposition, then he'd only have to spend 10 years on a diet of bread and water.

This is not for me. I'm not writing down the name of Mr. A. I'm not even admitting I know him. I don't know anything and the more I hear of this atomic investigation, the surer I am of it.

Rep. Jackson knows I know he does, because Sen. Hickenlooper passed Mr. A.'s name down to him in an envelope. The gentleman from Washington can announce it, if he wants, and take his chances with the executioner.

I like it here myself. I'm not interested in life after death. Personally, that is.

STEWART ALSOP

Commies Inherit the Ant Heap

HONG KONG—Even at 10,000 feet you sense it—too many people, too little food. Most countries look almost uninhabited from the air. But China, with its scratched and scrabbled land, its scarred mountains, its endless jumble of mud villages, its brick red rivers carrying precious topsoil to the sea, looks like some vast hungry ant heap.

The Communists are inheriting the antheap. Now they are faced with the ancient, unanswered question which has faced all China's rulers: How are the ants to be fed?

This is the central fact. China's ageless ills have not suddenly disappeared with the substitution of one political power for another. When the Communists took over the big cities, they also took over China's deficit economy, and they are beginning to suffer the consequences.

NOW, for the first time, they are having trouble with the peasants. The reports of peasant resistance to food collections come from so many sources that they must be based on fact. The reason is obvious—the peasants are now being forced to share their production with the hungry populations of the great cities. Partly because of peasant reluctance to share the food, and partly because they lack skilled technicians, the Communists are also having trouble with their newly won urban industries.

A European recently returned from the Great Kailan coal mines in the North told this reporter that production fell off almost 50 percent after the Communists took over. There are other reports of the same pattern being repeated elsewhere.

Not enough food and not enough industrial production spells inflation. In Peiping the "peoples' banknote" was officially pegged at 30 to the dollar. It has slithered down to hardly a tenth of that value.

In Shanghai the Communist currency is reported to have depreciated by half in a single day.

Inflation begets corruption, because honest officials starve. The Communists' chieftains are believed wholly incorruptible. But corruption is already attacking the lower reaches of the new officialdom. According to one reliable firsthand witness, for example, "You can buy your way through Tientsin right now, if you've got the money."

ALL THIS does not mean that Communist China is faced with imminent economic collapse, nor that inflation and corruption have even begun to reach the full and hideous flower they attained in Nationalist China. Yet an ancient process has been started, and for precisely the same reasons that it has always started in China: too many people, too little food.

The central committee of the Chinese Communist Party has now announced how the party means to attack China's disease—by what amounts to a slavish imitation of Russia's five-year plans. The whole political and economic emphasis is to be shifted from the peasants to the big city industrial workers. This program has horrified China's pro-Communist intellectuals, who like many American intellectuals have fondly imagined that the Chinese Communists were kindly agrarian reformers.

For it is obvious on the face of it that the Communists plan to industrialize China as Russia was industrialized—by the blood and sweat of the peasants.

Another fact is obvious on the face of it. Let the peasants sweat till they drop, China cannot even be started on the way toward an urban industrial economy without very extensive trade with the West. Russian can supply no substitute for Western trade, which built Shanghai from a mud flat to the fourth greatest city in the world. Moreover, the Communist leaders know it.

HERE the evidence is conclusive. It ranges from semi-official assurances conveyed to Western businessmen in Shanghai to the fact that the Communists have approached a great Belgian bank to act as their trading agent in Hong Kong; from the trade which has already quietly started between Japan and the Communist North to the alacrity with which Shanghai has been opened to Western shipping. The Communists mean to trade with the West simply because they must. Their only alternative is a China permanently condemned to a subsistence level agrarian economy; too many people and too little food.

This suggests a conclusion worth pondering. Only the Chinese Communists can now provide what the Western nations desperately want—a China independent of the Kremlin. But only the Western nations can provide what the Chinese Communists desperately want—the wherewithal, from machine tools and capital to technical skills, to industrialize their country. In considering Western policy toward Communist China, it is worth bearing this fact in mind. For to have what another nation wants is to be capable of influencing the policy of that nation.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

He's Not One To Turn the Other Cheek

NEW YORK—Drew Pearson has announced in a manner calculated to give his charge the maximum publicity that he is suing me and King Features Syndicate, which distributes my compositions, for libel. He alleges that I libeled him in certain statements published under my name soon after the tragic death of James Forrestal. Pearson had broadcast the false and defamatory charge that Forrestal, a brave man with a proven record for courage in mortal danger, had run "out of the back door of his house into the alley, leaving his wife to cope with a jewel robbery alone."

As on a past occasion, Pearson put himself in the position of an injured innocent in the preliminary publicity and immediately began private overtures looking toward a settlement which would permit him to dodge the question whether he is or is not a lying blackguard. He is willing to withdraw his present suit if I would apologize and say publicly that he is neither a liar nor a blackguard.

I reiterate that he is both. He complains further that he was injured in his reputation, such as it is, by my revival of a statement published years ago by his ex-mother-in-law, the late Cissie Patterson, of Washington. Her paper alleged that Pearson, as a Quaker, had "thee'd and thou'd" his way out of World War I. I do not know whether he did "thee and thou" his way out of that war. Pearson did spend a very brief time legally under arms as a member of the Student Army Training Corps. For all that I know to the contrary he satisfied the requirements. I affirm that Mrs. Patterson did publish the crack that I repeated and that Pearson let it pass without challenge in court.

This is the second time Pearson has sued me. In such cases it is the usual practice of defense counsel to advise the defendant to drop the subject until the suit is disposed of lest the plaintiff be given ground to charge that the further publications prove malice. In the present case, my attorneys agree with my belief that Pearson brought this suit to muzzle me. Therefore, I am disregarding the usual course.

In the first case, Pearson soon came crawling and the complaint was withdrawn by Pearson and his co-plaintiff, the Bell Syndicate, without apology or retraction and without cost or consideration. A final plea was made that I should say "something good" about Pearson in print. I replied that I did not know anything good about him. I still don't.

On that occasion, I wrote that Pearson was a liar and faker in that he had said, in a national broadcast, that Frank Sinatra came to my "apartment" at the Waldorf on election night, 1944, to attack me and, not finding me in, nevertheless got into the premises and violently disarranged the furniture. As Pearson could have ascertained if he had been a reporter instead of a reckless purveyor of falsehoods, I had no "apartment" but only one room and no such incident nor any other unusual incident or disorder occurred in that room, that night nor any other night during my stay. I ascertained by direct methods which are the basic practice of all news reporters that Sinatra visited Sidney Hillman's political headquarters, which were also the headquarters of the disguised Communist Party, and returned to his own apartment at the Waldorf where he kicked up a hysterical row. A house detective used force to subdue him. Had he come to my room, as Pearson said he did, I would have thrown him out.

In the sense of the word "blackguard" as I applied it to Pearson in the current case, the definition given by Webster's New International Dictionary is "a person of low character, especially one who uses scurrilous language or treats others with foul abuse." I venture no opinion of Pearson's character but will prove that he has treated many persons with foul abuse. His language is oily but the abusive effect, which is a form of scurrility, is there.

"Mendacity" was the other word which he specifically resented. That means "a habit of lying." I stand on my charge of mendacity.

In the first case it was my well-founded belief that Pearson's motive in approaching my syndicate with conciliatory gestures was the fact that my lawyers had prepared a completely devastating answer giving abundant details of his fakery and mendacity. The filing of this answer had been postponed more than once at Pearson's request. At no time did I or my syndicate seek Pearson or the Bell Syndicate or propose any compromise. A published statement that the case was closed by a letter of apology from me to Pearson is a lie. It is likewise untrue that I agreed and then violated the agreement not to mention Pearson in print. If the source of those statements be what I think it is, they are further proof of the mendacity which I have referred to.

I hold that not only public officials such as Forrestal but all citizens should be protected against the blackguardism which has become a serious menace in the last few years, especially on the air and especially on Sunday nights. I hold that it is the duty of a free press to expose and terminate this evil, even at the risk of foul personal abuse and at the great cost of resisting lawsuits having ulterior purposes. False and abusive propaganda has reached such a pitch that it seriously impairs the freedom of political judgment which American citizens should enjoy. It impairs their freedom of expression on issues of foreign policy. This time I will meet Pearson in court and present proof that he is a lying blackguard.

JOHN MARVIN RAST

Thy kingdom is an everlasting kingdom and thy dominion endureth throughout all generation.—Psalm 145:13.

The Roman Emperor Diocletian imagined that he could overthrow Christianity. He burned all copies of the Scriptures he could obtain and he ruthlessly massacred devotees of the faith. The witness of thousands was hushed by rack and flame. Boastingly, the Emperor had erected a column on which in Latin he had inscribed: "The Christian name has been blotted out." Time has reversed the process. Today the name of Diocletian is remembered at all because of the infamy of his conflict with Christ's followers. God's kingdom is an everlasting kingdom. All opposing realms are destined to transcience and decay.

O Living Lord, look with mercy upon us. We need Thee sorely. Draw us upward in the faith that fortifies and redeems. Impart to us Thy own immortal courage.

Peace of Mind
in First National Trust Service

One of the worries of men and women of moderate to large means is how their estate can be protected and managed for the best interests of their loved ones.

In today's tax and investment complications, it takes a sound and careful estate plan to insure your wishes for those you've struggled to sustain and protect.

Maybe that's why so many leading men and women think it wise to consult The First National's Trust Department, together with their own attorneys, in planning their wills.

Only your lawyer should draw your will, but First National Trust Officers can help you towards a sound estate plan—important both to you and your attorney, and we'll welcome such opportunities to be of service.

Before taking that trip this summer—make (or review) your will. You'll have the satisfaction of a duty well performed and enjoy more "Peace of Mind."

Decatur Appraisal Job Placed

The Decatur City Commission yesterday approved a Dayton, Ohio, firm to revaluate Decatur property and thus paved the way for Countywide property evaluation.

Under an agreement with County Commissioner Scott Candler, the County would negotiate for a separate contract and would sign simultaneously with the city. Candler agreed to pay 40 percent of the city's contract to obtain duplicate appraisal cards.

The Decatur Commission considered two bids and gave the nod to the firm of Cole-Layer-Trimble, of Dayton, Ohio. The firm offered to appraise city property for $23,350 and would make the County appraisal for $89,000. Mayor Candler Murphy and Commissioner Candler are expected to sign the contracts today.

The project, according to City Manager L. V. Bean, "will get under way immediately. They have agreed to finish the city evaluation by Jan. 1."

The action ends a two-month-old stalemate that began when a petition by 21 title lawyers of DeKalb County proposed local nationally recognized appraisers who would do the job they said at "a substantial saving."

Last week a bid for the citywide appraisal was submitted by Gray Skelton in behalf of a local appraiser. He proposed to do the job for $29,000.

No bid came from the local group yesterday. "We find it impossible to submit a bid," Skelton said in a letter to Mayor Murphy, "since only bids submitted to (both) City and County will be considered."

"We cannot," the letter concluded, "enter a bid for services to be performed under a contract we feel to be illegal."

COUNTY AFFAIRS

By DUPONT WRIGHT

On the grounds that it had unlawfully engaged in the industrial insurance business, Judge Bond Almand yesterday revoked the charter of the Free Benevolent Society, a Negro organization, and appointed Atty. Pierre Howard receiver of its assets. The organization was chartered as a fraternal benefit society. In the Court order, its officers, Geneva Haugabrooks and Ethel A. Cochron were permanently enjoined from collecting any funds from members of the Free Benevolent Society. Legal action was taken against the organization on behalf of the State Insurance Commission by William F. Buchanan, Special Assistant Attorney General. Judge Almand ordered assets of the society, after payment of costs, to be distributed to members who were in good financial standing on the date the petition was filed, March 8.

PLASTIC STANDS FOR CLEANLINESS—To turn housecleaning into a laughing rather than a crying matter, try slipcovers and draperies of Koroseal's new plastic fabric, designed especially for these purposes. Both chairs in the room above are covered in the fabric-back slipcover material—the chair at left in bold modern plaid in tones of brown and olive green and the chair at right in a leaf floral of brown and green leaves on a yellow background, matching the draperies. This setting is from Rich's current display in their Store for Homes.

Keep It Clean! Plastic Fabrics Spurn Spots

By MANITA GERRY

We know how it is. You're all in favor of Junior and Susie and any other habitues of your household leaving their footprints on the sands of time. But, please, you plead, not on your new slipcovers and clean bedspreads. This goes double for the fingerprints they deposit on your fresh curtains, especially those that have recently seen duty with the jam pot.

Living in the city, your normal expectations of dirt and grime, are necessarily high, but the little additions your family can add to housecleaning, through carelessness or thoughtlessness, are almost beyond endurance at times.

Curtains are, at best, in the long run little more than filters for any foreign matter that floats around in the air, particularly smoke and dust. Slipcovers afford a delightful surface for dirt and grease to cling to, bedspreads notwithstanding.

Would you be interested then in a new type of plastic fabric for curtains, slipcovers, draperies and bedspreads that requires washing only about once a year, and at other times responds to the persuasion of a damp cloth, rubbed lightly and quickly over its surface, to render it clean and inviting again?

Frankly, we rather thought you would.

Through a process known only to the B. F. Goodrich Company, manufacturers of this new plastic fabric, called Koroseal, the plastic for the slipcovers is sprayed on fabric backing for pliability and strength and are printed with various designs, florals, stripes, plaids, provincial stencils, as well as both modern and traditional patterns.

The drapery fabrics, which are all plastic, respect the designs and colors used in the slipcover material, all with solid white backs so that they appear to be lined when hung at the windows. And the curtain material is a very sheer clear fabric, also entirely of plastic in embroidered eyelet patterns, in powder blue, pale shrimp pink, white and soft yellow.

On hand for Rich's introduction of these new fabrics, Miss Elaine Scouler, special representative from Koroseal, was quick to point out some of the numerous advantages to be derived from them:

"They will not fade," she said, "nor will they mildew.

"Innumerable tests indicate that the white will not turn yellow," she went on, "and have also proven that the fabrics are highly resistant to stains from foods, drinks and chemicals, with a very few exceptions.

"The nature of the material is such," Miss Scouler said further, "that dust does not cling to it, nor does dirt penetrate, as it does fabric draperies. A damp cloth can be used to dust the heading. If the draperies are soiled by rain or finger marks, they can be sponged off with soap and water. Just dip them in a tub of lukewarm water and mild soapsuds. Rinse in clear water and wipe off excess moisture. They should never be ironed; wrinkles come out by merely hanging."

There are at present 12 different patterns, within which are three or four color combinations, netting a group of about 45 in all. Related color themes run throughout the different colors, and, according to Miss Scouler, plans are already under way to turn out a co-ordinated group of solids to compliment the various colors now appearing in the patterns.

Miss Marjorie Lathrop Hale Becomes Bride of M. H. Elder

Mrs. Walter G. Lewis, of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Hendersonville, N. C., announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Marjorie Lathrop Hale, to Matthew Henderson Elder, the ceremony having been quietly solemnized yesterday in the study of the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Daniel, who officiated. Only the members of the two families witnessed the nuptial service.

The charming bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lewis and the late Joseph H. Hale. She is a graduate of Peabody College, Columbia University, and the Atlanta Law School. She has been associated for some time with the Court of Appeals of Georgia.

Mr. Elder, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling J. Elder, is a graduate of Georgia Tech. He has a daughter, Miss Ruth Elder, and a son, M. H. Elder, Jr.

The bridal couple left by motor for Miami, Fla., from where they will fly to Nassau and Havana, Cuba. They will reside on Muscogee Avenue.

Miss Strong Weds Mr. Cobb

Miss Nancy Leigh Strong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Nathan Strong, and William Owen Cobb, were married recently at the First Methodist Church in Decatur. Rev. Charles Allen officiated.

Eugene Steed Cobb was his brothers best man, and ushers were Harvey Copeland, of Carrollton and Bernard Harris, of Rome.

Mrs. Eugene S. Cobb was the bride's only attendant.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Everette L. Rudeseal.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception, following the ceremony, at the Decatur Woman's Club. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Robert L. Watkins and Mrs. James O. Watkins, cousins of the bride. Miss Enid Day, aunt of the groom, kept the bride's book.

Miss Almand To Preside Over C. of C. Convention

Miss Beverley Almand, State President of C. of C., will preside at a convention of that organization to be held in Athens on June 11.

Miss Almand is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Almand, of Athens. She is attending the University of Georgia on a scholarship given high school first honor graduates. She was elected one of the eight top seniors at Athens High School and has recently been recognized as being in the upper 5 percent of the freshman class at the University. She has been asked to join Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary society.

In addition, Miss Almand has won a number of UDC and other essay contests, having flown to Savannah last year to receive the State UDC essay award. She is also winner of the DAR citizenship medal.

The program for the convention will consist of a morning session to be held at the Chamber of Commerce Building, a luncheon at the Georgian Hotel, and an afternoon session. E. B. Mell, of Athens, will give the morning address, and Rev. T. R. Harvill will deliver the invocation.

Many distinguished UDC and C. of C. officers will be present, as well as a large number of delegates from over the State. Both local and out-of-town C. of C. members will serve as pages.

Grandmothers' Club Plans Luncheon

The Atlanta Grandmothers' Club will hold a covered-dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Kate Shuford, 1351 Lucile Ave., S. W., today at 11 a. m.

Bandages will be rolled for the Cancer Home, and plans will be made for the July meeting honoring the National President of Grandmothers' Clubs, Mrs. Bea Good, of Medina, N. Y., who will be a guest of Mrs. Robert A. Long at that time.

MISS BEVERLEY ALMAND

Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Ehrik announce the birth of a daughter, Celia Ann, May 22 in Ann Arbor, Mich. Mrs. Ehrick is the former Miss Betty Eaton Dixon, of Atlanta.

SALLY FORTH Says:

Chemical Executive, Wife To Be Feted Guests Here

A group of prominent visitors arriving in the city on Sunday will be delightfully entertained during their stay. They include Dr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Thomas and their daughter, Frances, of St. Louis, who will visit their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Mellen.

Dr. Thomas, who is Executive Vice President of the Monsanto Chemical Company and one of five Americans decorated by President Truman for the important work he did in connection with the atom bomb, will deliver the commencement address at Georgia Tech on June 13.

The Thomases will fly from St. Louis to Sea Island on Saturday to spend the night with their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jones. The following morning the quintet will fly to Atlanta. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Huger at their home on Valley Road.

The day of their arrival, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Jones, Jr., will entertain Dr. and Mrs. Thomas and their hosts at luncheon at the Peachtree Golf Club. That afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Mellen will give an informal cocktail party for their guests.

On the evening of June 13, Dr. Thomas, who is former President of the American Chemical Society, will speak before members of the Georgia branch of the organization.

For the Sake of Sentiment

Peggy Roohan and her fiance, Clifford Weeks Schmitz, Jr., of Brooklyn, chose June 9 as their wedding day because on that date 61 years ago, Peggy's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hutchinson, were married.

The blue garters (for "something blue") and the dime for luck which Thursday's bride will wear in her shoe belong to her good friend, Joycelyn Johnson. They were also worn by the former Betty Cole when she became Mrs. Tommy Van Houten last year.

The satin pillow on which the bridal couple will kneel at the ceremony will be brought from Norfolk, Va., by the maid of honor, Martha Paxton. It was first used by Martha's mother 32 years ago, and only recently it was pressed into service again by Martha's sister, Mrs. Marvin Graham, when she became a bride.

Peggy's fiance and his father, Clifford W. Schmitz, Sr., arrived in the city Monday for the wedding.

Mrs. Ramona de Gonzalez Weds Puerto Rican Planter

Atlanta friends of Mrs. Ramona Johnson de Gonzalez, of Puerto Rico, will be interested to learn of her marriage to Jose Francisco Lamoso, of Payas, Puerto Rico, which took place yesterday morning in the family chapel on the groom's estate at Payas, with Father A. B. Albert, the priest who christened the bride, performing the ceremony.

Known to countless Atlantans as "Monine," the former Mrs. Johnson lived here during the war years when she served as secretary and interpreter for Robert T. Jones, Jr., in connection with his South American interests. She made her home with Mrs. J. Wen Lundeen and Mrs. M. L. Taylor, and became known for her work in the entertainment of American soldiers.

The bride's small twin sisters, Josephine Antoinette and Julia Elissa, carried the rings and the 10 dimes as a symbol of the bride's dowry after an old Spanish custom, at yesterday's ceremony. With her handmade pink crepe dress, the bride wore the white lace mantilla brought by her mother from Spain.

The bride is the daughter of Jose Gonzalez Lueso and Antonia Rodriguez of Asturias, Spain, and Ciales, Puerto Rico. She is a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico.

The groom, who is the son of Ovidio Lomoso and Francisca Coira, was born in Asturias, Spain. He is also a graduate of the University of Puerto Rico. He and his bride will reside in the hacienda at the groom's coffee and tobacco plantation during the planting season, and in the new home he built for his bride during the exporting season.

USD 1812 State Council Set for Friday

Miss Annie Laurie Hill, Honorary State President, USD 1812, will introduce Mrs. Lucius W. McConnell, Honorary President National, and Miss Helen Estes, newly elected Honorary Vice President National for Georgia, as honor guests at the State Council to be held Friday at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel.

Reports from the National Associate Council held recently in Washington will be given by the State President, Mrs. Thomas J. Sappington, of Eastman, and Miss Estes. Mrs. E G. Peyton, President of General John Floyd Chapter, will welcome delegates, with Mrs. Ralph Milton Jones President of McIntosh Trail Chapter, responding.

Reports will cover the election of Officers National, and the progress made in placing the "County Markers," the major project of the National Society now being the placing of a bronze or stone marker at the County seat of every County in the United States named for a man who rendered service during the "1812 period"—1784-1815 inclusive.

Mrs. Henry Furlow, Program Chairman, will present Dr. Josiah Crudup, President of Brenau College, as speaker. Mrs. Andrew S. Marshall, pianist, will accompany Mrs. Paul McGee in a group of songs.

The Memorial Service will honor the beloved Honorary Vice President National and Honorary State President, Mrs. Charles F. Rice, and will be conducted by the State Chaplain, Mrs. John S. Adams. Pages will be Miss Guerry Graham and the Misses Patricia and Kathryn Tebo.

Mrs. Peyton, Chairman, announces that the luncheon, to which members may invite guests, will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Reservations may be made with Mrs. J. D. Cromer, 1379 Peachtree St., N. E., Atlanta, Hemlock 3128.

Miss Handy Engaged To Warrant Officer

Mrs. William Robert Handy, of Cave City, Ky., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ruth Handy, to W/O James Samuel Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Claude Nash, of Tucker.

Miss Handy is a graduate of the Business University of Bowling Green, Ky. For the past four years she has resided in Washington, D. C., where she was a member of the secretarial staff of Hon. Frank L. Chelf, Congressman from Kentucky.

W/O Nash has served in the Army and the Air Force since 1940, and is presently assigned to duty as Squadron Adjutant, Installation Squadron, MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla.

The wedding will take place June 18 in Cave City.

Miss Elizabeth Matthews Weds Ensign Dixon in Rome

ROME—Miss Elizabeth Matthews donned a satin wedding gown, embellished with the Brussels lace yoke and veil worn by the bridegroom's mother at her wedding, to become the bride of Ensign John Curtis Dixon, Jr., last evening at one of the most brilliant nuptial ceremonies of the season. The service took place at beautiful St. Peter's Episcopal Church, with the rector, Rev. W. Russell Daniel, and Dr. Bunyan Stephens officiating.

Afterwards, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Matthews, were hosts at an elaborate reception held at the Coosa Country Club. Receiving the guests with them were the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Curtis Dixon, of Atlanta.

Ushers were William F. Barron, Dean Owens, R. Donald Harvey and Frederic S. Cooper.

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC:

Each Foot of Pasture Should Yield Forage

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1949

Suggestion of the day: Make your plans to attend the horse show. Dates will be announced soon.

MORE PLANTS—MORE CROPS

Among the newer ways of getting more for our farming efforts is the recent system of putting more plants on the ground. The corn growers, in particular, are adding several thousand more plants to the number formerly allocated to an acre of ground and they find this practice adds considerably to the ultimate yield. More guano and nitrogen are used, but the yield justifies this increase in cost.

I'm beginning to believe we pasture people could take a leaf from the corn farmer's book and add a great number of plants to the pasture acres with profit to ourselves. In the fields of kudzu and sericea lespedeza this ought to be especially true.

The practice is to plant 500 crowns of kudzu to the acre and allow it to expand and increase in numbers under our guiding hand and sympathetic eye, but I doubt seriously if any of us ever has kept at the business until we have a crown growing from each of the 43,560 square feet which constitute an acre of ground. What such a field of kudzu would produce in the way of forage is anybody's guess. It might be colossal, as they say in the movies.

To some extent sericea lespedeza faces the same situation. The first year it does not appear to be doing much, and we let it go its weary way. When it finally takes over the land we find upon examination that it needs quite a bit of filling-in. What 100 pounds of scarified seed per acre would make on a well-made and well-fertilized seed bed might astonish all of us. And so of other pasture plants.

The matter of yields is vitally important whether it be in row-cropping or pasture-cropping. "Too much feed is just about enough," says Dr Milton Jarnagin, and this probably is true of pastures as of other feed crops. Why not?

"There's none too poor to flick a switch to 55 and strike it rich." Especially at 6 a. m. and 12:45 p. m.

William Miller Buys Weekly in South Carolina

William O. Miller, of 608 S. McDonough St., Decatur, has bought the Hampton County Democrat, a weekly newspaper in Hampton, S. C. Jack Mette formerly owned the paper.

W. O. Miller

An employee of The Constitution from 1945 to 1947, Miller has been a staff writer with the Associated Press for the past two years. He is a graduate of Armstrong Junior College, Savannah, and the Emory University Division of Journalism.

The 29-year-old newsman was with the Navy in Manila, P. I., at the outbreak of the war. He served five years before being released to inactive duty with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Miller is married to the former Miss Frances Slauson, of Alexandria Bay, N. Y. They have a three-year-old daughter, Ruth Wilcox Miller.

Princess Margaret is "wearing down" her father, King George, to allow her to visit the United States this Fall, court circles report. . . . The Hollywood Police Vic Squad raided the home of Film and Radio Comedian Bob Hope on a tip gambling was in progress there. Officers found Mrs. Hope raffling hams for a church benefit. Sgt. David McCoy said she halted the raffle when told it was illegal. . . . Actress Beatrice Lillie was expected to be released yesterday from Honrotin Hospital in Chicago where she was taken Sunday suffering from shock after a fire in her hotel apartment.

Stricken

N. R. Flippin, a 58-year-old Nashville, Tenn., roofer, became temporarily paralyzed when he twisted his back while working on a tiny platform 40 feet above the ground in a steeple. Firemen with a hook and ladder truck rescued him half an hour later after a physician had climbed up to his perch to administer a pain-deadening drug. . . . William Gaston, about 50, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress and former husband of Actress Kay Francis was arrested yesterday in Wilton, Conn., after making himself "obnoxious" to a divorcee, Mrs. Jeanne Shea, and chasing her out of her home, State Police reported.

Couldn't Toot

James Caesar Petrillo couldn't toot his own horn before his union in San Francisco. He had promised to play a trumpet solo before the 1,000 delegates to the American Federation of Musicians' Convention. The solo was called off because of "mechanical failure." . . . Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former Ambassador to Russia and now Commander of the First Army, was flying to International Airport from Governors Island, N. Y., when his plane developed engine trouble. An emergency landing was made at Camden, N. J., Airport. The General hopped a taxi and headed for the Philadelphia Airport, where an escort awaited him. En route, the cab broke down. The 53-year-old Texas-born general flagged down a passing motorist and had him drive him to International Airport. From there police escorted Smith to Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa., where he was principal speaker and recipient of an honorary degree at commencement exercises.

Lula Vollmer Premiere Set For Atlanta

The curtain will rise on the world premiere of Lula Vollmer's "She Put Out To Go" at 8:30 p. m. tonight in the Women's Club Auditorium. The play is scheduled to run through Saturday.

First benefit play for Atlanta's new Fine Arts Center Foundation, the play is being produced by the Atlanta Civic Theater.

Margo Jones, who directed Ingrid Bergman in the Broadway hit, "Joan of Lorraine," will make the opening curtain speech. She is the Managing Director of famed Theater 49 in Dallas, Texas.

A former Atlantan, Miss Vollmer stepped from a $45-a-week job in the box office of New York's Garrick Theater to $3,000-a-week as the author of "Sun Up."

The return to Peachtree Street will touch a sentimental chord, she says, since she was once "pay-lady" at the Piedmont Hotel.

Prices Lower On Merchandise

Looking for price tags that will bring in the customers, hundreds of buyers yesterday roamed through the Fall merchandise put on display at the City Auditorium here by the Southeastern Travelers Exhibitors, Inc.

The prices were lower for the first time in years. Things were easier to get—no difficulty about waiting. Remembering the buyers' market they are facing in their stores, the buyers brought that business-like attitude to the showings here.

Buyers for stores all over the Southeast came to the showing, saving the time and expense of trips to Eastern and Midwestern markets to look over goods.

The exhibitors, meanwhile, re-elected Sam Joseph President; Harry Rountree, of Wilson, N. C., First Vice President; Waldo E. Oettinger, of Atlanta, Secretary, and Stanley Sokol, of Atlanta, Treasurer. Jud Haft, of New York, was elected Second Vice President. Marshall J. Mantler, of Atlanta, is Executive Secretary.

Keeping Up With Atlanta

Dr. Luther Harris Evans, Librarian of Congress, told graduating seniors at Atlanta University here, "If students wishing to continue their researches abroad were enabled to travel and if professors might freely be exchanged among the universities of the world, international understanding would be a natural consequence." University President Dr. Rufus Clements awarded 98 degrees at commencement exercises.

Penicillin for Ruth

An anonymous benefactor interested in the attempt to save the life of 11-year-old Ruth Anderson, Atlanta, mastoid victim, has assured the girl of 10,000,000 units of penicillin, Lester Jones, Superintendent of Pryor Street Mission, said yesterday. Penicillin, doctors said, will be a deciding factor in whether Ruth will overcome her almost-fatal affliction. The child is under the care of a specialist who has expressed hope another operation might save her.

GAMBLER SLAYING

Slot Slugs Mark Man For Death

JOLIET, Ill. — (AP) — Gamblers' gunmen fired eight slugs into a man's head yesterday to make sure, police theorized, that he'd cheat them no more by using slugs to drain their slot machines.

The bloody ambush from a racy car, two gun muzzles belching from its side, killed Myron August Gerbing, 44, who lived alone in a trailer camp in the town of Lake, near Milwaukee, Wis.

A peek under the hood of his 1946 Chevrolet supplied state police with the motive. They found quantities of slugs in nickel, dime, quarter and half dollar sizes. A package of $110 in quarters in the car indicated he had been doing well at hitting payoff combinations on the one-arm bandits.

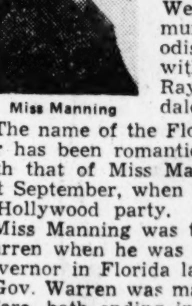

The top of Gerbing's head was nearly blown off as he drove his car from the Woodland Park Cabin Camp this morning onto Route 66A at Braidwood, a community about 20 miles southwest of Joliet.

"A big black car with the muzzles of two guns sticking out pulled alongside," Leslie Sinclair, operator of the camp, related, "and let him have it. The gunmen's car raced away."

Sinclair said Gerbing arose at about 9:30 a. m., dressed and washed. He was slain a few minutes after checking out of the camp.

Fla. Gov. Warren And Socialite To Wed June 26

WESTWOOD, Cal.—(INS)—Wedding bells will ring for Gov. Fuller Warren, 43, of Florida and Los Angeles socialite Barbara Manning, 24, on June 26.

Miss Manning

Miss Manning revealed yesterday that the ceremony will be performed in the Westwood Community Methodist Church with the Rev. Ray W. Ragsdale officiating.

The name of the Florida Governor has been romantically linked with that of Miss Manning since last September, when they met at a Hollywood party.

Miss Manning was the guest of Warren when he was inaugurated Governor in Florida last January.

Gov. Warren was married twice before, both ending in divorce. It will be the first marital venture for Miss Manning.

The couple plans a Florida honeymoon.

Will Not Ask Fare Increase

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad, which links the Midwest and Florida with trains passing through Atlanta, announced yesterday it would not go along with other roads in seeking a passenger fare increase.

Many Eastern lines have pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission a petition for an increase of 12.5 percent in fares. No road in the South has yet joined the move.

Boy, 16, Dies Here in Scooter Crash

Grady Richardson Preston, 16-year-old Negro boy, of 655 Oliver St., N. W., was instantly killed last night when the motor scooter he was riding collided with a heavy truck at Ollie and West Hunter Streets.

18
THIS YEAR
16 This Time Last Year

The death brought traffic fatalities for this year to 18 compared with 16 for a similar period of 1948.

Sgt. Jack Smith and Ptl. S. C. Dillingham said Preston and a group of other youths had gone to Washington High School to get copies of the yearbook. They added Preston borrowed the motor scooter from Leonard Kinsey, 17, Negro, of 175 Chestnut St., S. W.

As the motor scooter made a left turn from Ollie into West Hunter, it struck the rear of a two-ton truck operated by Leonard Thomas, 48, Negro, of 136 Sampson St., N. E., officers said. Preston was dragged 50 feet before the truck stopped.

Thomas was booked for reckless driving and disorderly conduct-manslaughter. The case is scheduled to be heard at 1:30 p. m., June 15 in Traffic Court.

TODAY IN RADIO:

Lombardo 'Diet' Set On 5-Day Schedule

By RITA VAN PELT

If, perchance, your doctor has prescribed a diet of Lombardo music this Summer, your station is WCON. You now can have the Guy in handy half-hour capsules to be taken at 9 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and on Wednesdays at 9:30.

Tonight's potion is said to be compounded of the Lombardo "regulars," plus a pinch of Rosemary Clooney doing the new song, "Cabaret" and an oldie titled "Penny Arcade"—Don Elliot in charge of dispensary.

Special Request

By way of satisfying popular request, the WGST-MBS Family Theater will give a repeat performance of "Hound of Heaven" tonight at 9:30. The drama, based on the life of Frances Thompson, will star Mark Stevens who played the same role last year. Jack Benny will be the narrator.

On the same net at 10 the Marc Connelly-George S. Kaufman comedy hit, "To the Ladies," will be aired.

Tavern Menu

It's corned beef and cabbage for the Duffy's Tavern bill-of-fare tonight at 9 when "Archie" orders up an Irish banquet. However, a new cook, suspected of poison leanings, gives a strangely arsenic-and-old-mace flavor to the broadcast, which you'll hear on WSB-NBC.

Dr. Christian

A girl with a strong allergy toward anything imperfect eyes a broken jade vase as a symbol of her own marriage failure . . . until kindly Dr. Christian and his nurse Judy Price help restore the vase and thereby mend a marriage during tonight's prize play titled "The Perfectionist." WAGA-CBS at 8:30.

My True Story

Should a woman give up the man she loves to her sister . . . and without a struggle? Well, now, that is a problem! (On the other hand, maybe it would be a good way to get even with Sis.) A girl named Ellen Conrad finds herself faced with just such a dilemma on today's My True Story episode. But for her solution and the answer to who gets the man, listen to WCON-ABC at 10 a. m.

It took Christopher Columbus less time to persuade his contemporaries that the earth was round, than it is taking current bridge missionaries to convince the public that one does not always lead the highest of his partner's suit. . . . Two generations of bridge players have come and gone since the false doctrine took hold and still a vast majority of players keep tossing their high cards out upon the table, as though a bumper crop of face cards were assured with each new deal. This type of looseness in the handling of assets is highly reprehensible.

High cards frequently lose their killing power if led and an effort should be made to retain honor cards in a menacing position over the adversaries, the better to capture the adverse holdings. Modern players are universally in accord as to the desirability of leading low from three to a King, Queen or Jack of partner's suit, at either a suit or no trump contract. Where the Ace of partner's suit is held, it may be underled at No Trump, but at a suit contract the Ace itself is the proper lead, assuming that suit is selected for the opening. This statement of the case will be found in all approved texts on the play of the cards.

The most successful players of the day, have found it profitable to extend the doctrine even to the holding of the guarded 10 of partner's suit. Such card, if economically employed will at times prove helpful in preventing an additional adverse stopper. Today's hand serves to illustrate the point.

South became declarer at a contract of 3 no trump, after East had opened the bidding with 1 Diamond. When West led the 10 of Diamonds it was covered by the Queen, the King and the Ace, whereupon the 8, twice guarded, proved to be another stopper in the hand of the declarer. The defense in other words could run only two Diamond tricks and two Aces.

But where West opened the 3 of Diamonds, declarer was unable to bring home nine tricks in time. Dummy played low, East the Jack and declarer won with the Ace. When the Ace of Clubs was driven out, East cashed the King of Diamonds and then led low to partner's 10. The suit was temporarily blocked, but East was able to regain the lead with the Ace of Hearts, to cash the third Diamond trick in defeat of the contract.

AUNT HET

I haven't been a perfect wife; but when Pa was doin' his best to provide for me, I never worried him half-crazy by lettin' him know I was dissatisfied.

New World Interest May Satisfy the Child

By GLADYS BEVANS

"Come see what I've built," said the little girl. "This is a freighter, and this is a ferry-boat, and all this is the Hudson River." She'd been across the bridge the day before.

Children may live a lot of their time in the world of imagination, but the real world has a distinct fascination for them—in fact, on it many of their imaginings are based. They need to be taken where they can see more than lies at hand; not too far or too often at first when very young, though later more and more variety can be introduced into their experience.

This awakens their minds and senses, widens their horizons; it stimulates their play and many of their other expressions of thought and imagination: reading, art, writing, mechanical experiments, conversation, the use of a camera and so on. A few trips of this sort with the children will not only prove to you how keen their pleasure is, but will show you its effect in their play, their hobbies, their books and (if old enough) in the newspapers.

Naturally, the age of your child or children will determine where you go and what you'll plan to see, though many of the same sights have appeal to boys and girls from 4 to 14—though with more understanding at one age than at another. Another thing that will determine some of your trips will be interests your child has already shown. For instance: All children love trains. It often takes many trips to a railroad station or a big terminal to satisfy their interest in locomotives, coal-cars and cabooses.

Cities and towns near bays or rivers provide fascinating waterfront scenes for children: tugs, docks, freighters and ocean liners. A ferry-boat trip is an adventure. And it is not only fun to cross bridges; they elicit dozens of questions from young sightsee-ers, which you'd better be ready to answer!

A NEW LOOM SERVICE--AT YOUR DOOR

H. F. LIVERMORE

moves 1,000 Miles closer to you!

On June 10, 1949, the H. F. Livermore Corporation opens its Southern Division offices and warehouse in Greenville. S. C., to provide new and quicker services for its customers in the South.

Savings of up to 20 per cent are now made possible through pre-packaging of parts and assemblies in quantity lots, with the establishment of this regional headquarters for quick, efficient servicing of your needs.

Here is the Story of a New Plan of Engineered Service for Southern Mills ...as Close to You as Your Phone

Read these highlights . . .

For well over half a century—we started in 1887—this organization has led the field in the manufacture and the distribution of loom parts of high-precision and enduring quality.

From our facilities in Boston we have been privileged to serve customers in all parts of this country, in Canada, and in many foreign countries.

Now we have expanded our facilities and services to include the custom changeover and rebuilding of looms.

Assemblies of critical motions have been pre-packaged in quantity lots to bring savings as high as 20 percent for our customers.

Our engineers have created sub-assemblies to blend with rapid conversion and modernization programs.

H. F. Livermore is an old firm—with modern ideas for giving you economical service.

Check these advantages . . .

1. EMERGENCY DELIVERY . . . When you need something in a hurry, that's our job. Call GREENVILLE 5-5531 . . . Or write or wire H. F. Livermore Corporation at 123-125 HENRY STREET, Greenville, South Carolina.

2. OVER-THE-COUNTER SALES . . . Our warehouse is here for service. If you need it, we've got it.

3. ENGINEERING COUNSEL . . . Our trained sales engineers know their business —so they can help with yours. Whether your problem is a quick repair job or a major installation, we are at your service.

4. DURABILITY . . . Our products last. They have built-in durability and quality, because they are precision-made by skilled craftsmen.

5. COORDINATED PLANS . . . Our business depends on production plus service. That means help for you—when you need it, where you need it.
